VIOLENT DEATH HITS 287 OVER LONG HOLIDAY

102 Killed in Traffic, Toll Less Than Third of That For Last Year.

AREA CONTRIBUTES THREE

26 Ohioans Drowned, 12 Are Car Crash Vjctims; Fall, Fire Kill Others.

A nation honoring its dead of other wars in the midst of a new conflict found some solace today in counting its smallest Memorial Day holiday death toll in years—a list which included three names from the Mansfield area.

Throughout the country, 287 violent deaths were reported by the Associated Press during the two-day holiday. Of this total, 102 met death in traffic accidents, less than one-third of the highway toll last year.

Two factors were credited with reducing the national traffic toll; gasoline and tire rationing kept many motorists at home, and uninterrupted activity in war plants kept many others at their machines. Those who used their cars for holiday travel drove at more moderate speeds than usual.

A United Press survey showed that Ohio led the nation in total number of accidental deaths, with 42. Twenty-six Ohioans drowned 12 died in traffic, one person was burned to death, a child died of injuries suffered in a three-story fall, one man was asphyxiated by smoke when trapped in his burning home, and another man died when a horse fell on him.

Seven of the Ohioans who met death by drowning were caught by a towering wall of water which struck 60 miles of Lake Erie shoreline, from Bay Village, west of Cleveland, to Geneva. The phenomenon was attributed to a sudden switch of wind direction. (Story on page 2.)

Funeral services were arranged for this afternoon for the three Mansfield area victims of holiday traffic accidents. Rites were to be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3 p. m. for Robert E. Burns, 52, president of the Alta Lumber and Supply company, who (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

HEAT TO STAY

Sultry Weather to Remain Over Night; Mercury at 76.

The sultry heat which made Mansfielders uncomfortable over the holiday week-end is due to continue tonight, the weatherman said. Scattered thundershowers may bring relief in sections of northern Ohio, he added.

A brief thundershower about 9:30 a. m. today cooled the atmosphere temporarily, but the mercury began to climb again after the rain and reached 76 degrees at noon.

Sunday's high was 89 and the low last night was 62 degrees. A high degree of humidity made the heat more oppressive. Rainfall Saturday afternoon and this morning totaled .28 of an inch.

Rationing Causes Collections To Drop $8,000,000 In Month.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The bureau of internal revenue today disclosed that federal gasoline tax collections dropped nearly $8,000,000 from February to March because of gas rationing and the rubber shortage and it was reported that state tax authorities are becoming alarmed over the situation.

Federal revenue from taxes on gasoline decreased from nearly $29,000,000 in February to only a little over $21,000,000 a month later.

Approval of a declaration of war on Germany, Italy and Japan by the Mexican senate and chamber of deputies has brought to 27 the total of nations fighting the Axis on battle fronts around the world. Limited in military power, Mexico probably will confine her military activities to her own territory. The war declaration was sought by President Manuel Avilia Camacho, who is expected to name General Lazaro Cardenas, a former president, as chief of all the country's armed forces.

Admiral Leahy, With Body of Wife, First to Leave Ship at Jersey Port.

(INS Staff Correspondent)

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — The Swedish-American liner Drottningholm, her decks lined with American diplomatic officials, newspapermen and refugees from Axis nations, docked at Jersey City today and down her gangplank raced 908 persons to whom American soil had become a misty memory.

Painted white, streaked with the Swedish colors and plainly labeled a "diplomatic" ship, the Drottningholm had a rough crossing but aside from once sighting a periscope, there was no excitement in the voyage.

Back from Berlin where he was interned for five months, Hugo Speck, International News Service foreign correspondent, reported that the German war cry has changed from "victory is ours" to "victory, cost what it may," since the United States entered the war.

"There are many signs evident that Germany is approaching—not nearing—but approaching a crackup," Speck reported.

CUBS BUY FOXX

Slugger Sold by Boston Sox For Unrevealed Sum.

BOSTON—(U.P.)—First Baseman Jimmy Foxx was sold today by the Boston Red Sox of the American league to the Chicago Cubs of the National league for an unannounced cash sum.

The 34-year-old Foxx, a "boy wonder" under Connie Mack with the Philadelphia Athletics, had been with the Red Sox since 1936 and was playing his 18th season in the American league.

Hardy Resigns Position With Red Cross; Goes To Cleveland

Bernard C. Hardy, first aid and water safety director for Richland county chapter of the Red Cross under whose supervision approximately 3,000 persons received instruction in first aid, has signed a contract with the Cleveland chapter of Red Cross and will assume his new post, June 15.

Hardy goes to the Cleveland chapter as first aid, water safety and accident prevention director and as such automatically becomes director of the medical division, first aid and rescue squads for the Cleveland Civilian Defense organization.

His work with the Richland Red Cross chapter was responsible for the most valuable contribution to Mansfield's Civilian Defense program thus far as it provided instruction in first aid to hundreds of persons not only in Richland county but to residents in outside communities.

Under Hardy's direction nearly 160 first aid instructors were trained to expand the county first aid program.

Hardy's promotion by the national chapter of the Red Cross has been under consideration for a number of weeks and the national chapter has been in communication with both Hardy and L. W. Birch, Richland county chairman.

Hardy said he expected to contact the county chairman today as soon as the latter arrived home from an out of town trip. He said he expected to resign as of June 15 and added that he would recommend a Mansfield man as a successor.

Before coming to Mansfield a year ago, Hardy was first aid and water safety director for the Lucas county Red Cross chapter in Toledo five years. He had his training at both Toledo university and at Western Reserve Medical school.

Hardy is married and lives at 616 Park avenue west. Mrs. Hardy, a registered nurse, has been an assistant to Dr. B. W. Stern, dentist.

A second resignation from the Richland Red Cross staff will officially be made at the executive board meeting next week when Miss Jane Stough, Junior Red Cross secretary for the past 16 months, resigns to be married. Miss Stough has already informed L. W. Birch, county chairman, of her intentions.

This makes the third member of the county staff to leave the executive office this month as Mrs. Jack Calhoun, office secretary for seven years, has been granted a six months' leave of absence by the board.

Submarine Victims Describe Odd Design On Axis Warship

(By United Press)

KEY WEST, FLA.—Six seamen aboard a medium-sized Brazilian freighter lost their lives south of Haiti on May 24, when their ship was torpedoed and sunk by an Axis submarine with a grotesque design on its conning tower, crewmen who were rescued and brought here, reported today. The survivors were unable to attach any significance to the design which featured the head of a goat with long horns and the stem of a red rose in its mouth.

Harold Nascimento, chief engineer of the vessel who described the strange design, said he thought the undersea raider was Italian.

Forty-five survivors were picked up by an American freighter after they had drifted in two lifeboats for 29 hours. They were landed at Key West.

The navy reported the loss of the Brazilian ship today, following announcements yesterday of the sinking of four other merchant ships—three American and one Norwegian—sent to the bottom in the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic by Axis U-boats.

Face Future With Confidence, Message Left With Graduates

"There is only one way youth may face the future with confidence and that is with faith in God and the courage to allow God to furnish balance, security and direction to life."

This was the baccalaureate message left with 308 Mansfield high school graduates by Rev. Edward G. Corwin, preaching last night at the First Lutheran church.

"Faith is not rushing out into the light of a bright June day," Rev. Corwin said, "it is putting the foot down in a bleak December fog and finding it on a rock."

The graduates, attired in dubonnet and white caps and gowns were seated in the front of the church. Approximately 1,000 relatives and friends filled the seats behind them.

"If we are to face the aftermath of war and the reconstruction of the world of tomorrow heroic faith in God must be retrieved," Rev. Corwin continued, "and I claim it is our first priority."

"God must be brought into the world picture and until He is, goodness and freedom and brotherhood with their allied interests (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

POLICE JAIL 5 IN 3 ATTACKS

Charges To Be Filed in One of Cases in Which Man Was Robbed of $190.

Charges were to be filed today against five colored men, one a Mansfield resident, held by police in connection with attacks on three men and the robbery of one of them of $190 yesterday in the northern section of the city.

Police reported that the colored men, three of them CCC enrollees, were arrested for investigation by Detective Lee J. Remy and Patrolman John C. Gilbert after two Mansfielders and a Loudonville man complained of attacks and robbery attempts.

Thomas McWilliams, 356 Newman street, told police that five colored men pulled him into an alley on East Fifth street near a night club, beat him up, and then took his wallet containing $190.

Howard Baum, Court hotel, reported that he had been with McWilliams at the night club and that when he stepped out to find McWilliams, he too was dragged into the alley by the colored men and beaten up. Baum said that he escaped without being robbed.

Orders Hope Gas Company To Cut Wholesale Rates

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The federal power commission ordered the Hope Natural Gas company of West Virginia today to reduce its wholesale rates to Ohio and Pennsylvania distributors by approximately $3,600,000 a year.

Slashing the company's claimed interstate rate base from $66,000,000 to $33,712,926, the commission set 6½ per cent as the rate of return on investments.

The order reduced Hope's rate for natural gas to the East Ohio Gas company, serving Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Massillon, Canton and other Ohio communities, from $6.5 cents to 29.5 cents a thousand cubic feet, or a total of $2,820,000 a year.

Rejecting as unreasonable Hope's contention that it was entitled to a return of at least eight per cent, the commission said the company had earned on its owners equity an average annual profit of 12 per cent and had built up reserves far in excess of requirements.

The order ended proceedings started in 1938 when Akron and Cleveland contended that Hope's rates to the East Ohio Gas company were unreasonable.

Homes Along Water Front Are Shaken as Heavy Fire of Defenders Hits Subs.

(By United Press)

MELBOURNE — Three Japanese midget submarines were believed at the botom of Sydney harbor today after an abortive "Pearl Harbor" raid in which suicide crews steered up the main port channel in sight of ferryboat passengers.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in a special communique that three of the midget two-man undersea craft were believed destroyed, one by gun fire and two by depth charges, in a completely unsuccessful raid, the first on an Australian port.

The Japanese succeeded only in damaging one small harbor craft of no military importance, MacArthur said, in a raid so reckless it smacked of suicide.

The enemy craft came up the main channel of Australia's second city and greatest port last night, into one of the finest harbors in the world and the greatest naval base in the southwest Pacific.

Homes along the water front on both sides of the harbor were rocked as the gigantic shore guns, planes and naval craft went into action.

Passengers on a harbor ferry boat, saw the periscope and the upper part of the conning tower of one of the enemy submersibles as it passed close to them.

They saw it for one minute. Tracer shells spotted it then and bracketed it with deadly fire, it submerged.

Army Air Chief Says U. S. Units Will Stage Own Mass Raids On Germany After Greatest Smash of War Levels Enemy City.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (UP) — The great German industrial city of Cologne—blasted by 6,720,000 pounds of bombs —still is burning and is covered by a thick pall of smoke, reconnaissance pilots reported today.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German Gestapo, has assumed control of all air raid precautions services in the Reich following the RAF attack on Cologne, it was learned today. An order naming Himmler to ARP command was issued by Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States army air corps, said today that an American air force, using its own fields and ground crews, would soon join the British in bombing Germany on an unprecedented scale.

"We shall hit the enemy hard and relentlessly until his military power has been broken," he said.

". . . . We are determined to get every possible fighting plane into the fight. No combat planes are being kept back in the United States beyond the absolute minimum required for tactical training. . . . My visit has, I hope, hastened the day when our arms shall join in an air offensive against the enemy which he cannot meet, defeat or survive. . . . Gen. George C. Marshall (chief of army staff) said the other day that American troops will land in France. It is obvious that no offensive against Nazi-controlled Europe can succeed without air superiority and we mean to have it."

As Arnold spoke at a press conference, RAF fighter planes, 10,000 feet over London, made victory loops to celebrate the British Saturday night raid on Cologne, the greatest ever made by an air force against any target. Londoners waved at them and gave the thumbs-up victory signal.

At the same time the government made it known that the Germans, in a vicious, vengence raid had bombed during the night ancient Canterbury, the cradle of Christianity in England, destroying at least one of its historic churches.

Revealing that he and his associates visiting London had practically concluded talks with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, chief of staff of the Royal Air Force and other British leaders, Arnold said that his talks:

"Aimed at further development of the original agreements between the British and United States governments looking to the maximum impact of our combined air strength upon the common enemy.

ESCAPE: Axis Tank Forces Flee British Trap In Libya

(By United Press)

CAIRO — Col. Gen. Erwin Rommel today succeeded in extricating the badly-battered spearhead of his Axis tank forces from a British trap in the Libyan desert south of El Gazala after the capture of his second in command by the British.

Rommel withdrew his German-Italian armored units westward, back from Britain's coastal strong- hold of Tobruk which had been his objective, after taking a heavy battering from British guns and bombing planes which left the desert wastes strewn with wrecked and crippled tanks.

British Middle East headquarters announced that Gen. Ludwig Cruewell, 50-year-old second in command to Rommel, was a prisoner after the shooting down of a reconnaissance plane in which he was surveying the battlefront.

Rommel was said in front line advices reaching Cairo this afternoon to be consolidating his forces in new positions in the area of two gaps in the British minefield line (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

PURGE: High Nazi Officers Linked To Heydrich Shooting

(By United Press)

LONDON — The European revolution radio said today that 14 high-ranking German army officers had been arrested in connection with the attempted assassination of Reinhard (the hangman) Heydrich, deputy Gestapo chief, at Prague last week.

The European revolution radio is a clandestine broadcasting station in Germany, believed to be operated by Prussian officers opposing Adolf Hitler.

The broadcast said the attempt on Heydrich's life probably had been made by supporters of Kurt Daluegue, who succeeded "the hangman" as "protector of Bohemia and Moravia." It said an attempt had been made against Daluegue recently, presumably by Heydrich's henchmen. Significantly, it asserted, Daluegue confiscated Heydrich's villa, formerly owned by Baron Von Rothschild, as soon as he assumed office.

The arrested army officers, the broadcast said, included several from the staffs of Gen. Nikolaus Von Falkenhorst and Gen Ernest Von Stuelpnagle.

The quarters of many officers in districts which had been inspected by Heydrich in his hours of German-occupied Europe, were said to have been searched by the secret police. The apartment of a (Continued on Page 12, Col. 4.)

THE WAR TODAY

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

The Allies very definitely are getting ahead with their job of tapping Herr Hitler to learn the measure of his girth.

Most impressive of this rests in the revelation of air power in the record British bombing raid by some 1,250 warplanes which laid waste to a large area of the ancient Rhenish city of Cologne—a really terrifying exhibition.

British Premier Churchill called it "a herald of what Germany will receive, city by city." This statement acquires added significance through the announcement today in London by Lieut. General Henry Arnold, head of the United States air forces, that he has practically completed plans with British leaders to develop "the maximum impact of our combined air strength" on Germany.

The curtain has been drawn aside to give us a glimpse of an Allied air fleet which is developing into a force that nothing on earth will be able to withstand. We may in due course be able to blast Hitler's Germany off the map.

Still, we shouldn't let this spectacular event obscure the momentous development on the Russian front. The struggle for the main gateway to the golden Caucasus, upon which the outcome of the war depends to such large degree, appears to have reached a lull marking the end of the first stage of this Armageddon, with the advantage resting on the Allied side.

The Hitlerites have suffered no overwhelming defeat along the great Kharkov-Rostov sector. But the fact the Nazis haven't been able to get ahead with their project of breaking through is in itself a serious setback. Every day they are kept away from badly needed oil and other fresh supplies is another nail in the Fuehrer's coffin. So long as the Germans aren't actually advancing they are taking a beating.

However, we shouldn't assume that the present slackening off in the battle means it's dying out. Offensive and counter-offensive will intensify as the summer progresses, and the fertile fields of this sector will run with blood of a vast host of youth before the issue is decided.

This doesn't necessarily mean that Hitler will devote all his energy to trying to break through the Rostov gateway. It's quite possible he may attempt an assault by air and sea against Syria in an effort to break into the oil fields of the Middle East.

This finds support in the new offensive attempted by Nazi Marshal Rommel across the blazing summer sands of the Libyan desert. Such an action undoubtedly would accompany any German drive against Syria.

It's likely that upon Rommel's progress will depend Hitler's procedure in the Middle East. Should things seem favorable to the Axis in the desert warfare, it might encourage an invasion of Syria, thus not only threatening the oil fields of Iraq and Iran but putting Egypt and the Suez Canal in a pair of pincers.

Marshal Rommel appears from British accounts to have taken a bad battering thus far in the five-day-old engagement — thanks to Allied air superiority—and Rommel's master may well be twiddling his thumbs in exasperation over his incompleted plans for new adventures.

However, the battle still rages fiercely and while Rommel appears to be in a tight spot he is one of the great soldiers of our time. The British are cautious in their optimism as regards the outcome, and we should be, too.

LORD HALIFAX HAILS BATTLE OF PRODUCTION

Tells Wesleyan Graduates Allies Are 'Steadily Beating' Axis.

(By United Press)

DELAWARE — Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, declared today that to defeat the "evil madness now loose in Nazi Germany," the people of the United States must "re-establish the standards set for us by the founder of our religion wherever . . . we have allowed them to be overgrown."

Halifax said that the United Nations, handicapped at the start of the war by a lack of equipment, already had overcome that deficiency and now are "steadily beating the Axis powers in the battle of production as they will soon learn if they don't already know it."

He spoke at the centennial celebration and graduation exercises at Ohio Wesleyan university.

At the beginning of the war Britain and her allies had not "called to our aid the invisible and invincible strength that was to hand," he said. "People of the United Nations had come to take the things that we call our way of life so much for granted . . . that we were not sufficiently afraid of slavery."

"Now all that is changed and suddenly we see that things which have come down to us with the accumulated strength of centuries are in mortal peril," Halifax said. "We see . . . that if we are to break this evil madness now loose in Nazi Germany the conviction with which we defend our faith must be as deep and as passionate as that with which our enemies would destroy it."

Halifax called Nazism "the latest and greatest attempt in history to live without reference to God" and said that Nazi worship of the state had "seduced the German youths, and in doing so, created what will surely be the greatest of our post-war problems."

The British ambassador is one of 19 persons who received honorary degrees at the graduation exercises. He received an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree. There were 238 in the Ohio Wesleyan graduating class.

Halifax is scheduled to tour the Curtiss-Wright war plane plant at Columbus this afternoon, inspecting assembly lines and talking with workmen.

He will deliver an "off the record" speech at the annual Columbus Chamber of Commerce dinner tonight.

ERIE FISHING PARTIES HIT BY HUGE WAVE

Sudden Shift of Wind Blamed For Holiday Tragedy Near Geneva.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—The Lake Erie shore counted seven dead today from the sudden sweep of a water wall, described at one point as 15 to 20 feet high, which plunged against night fishing parties in a 60-mile stretch of the lakefront.

At least seven others were injured and hospitalized.

A sudden shift in wind direction was the major cause of the huge wave, the Cleveland weather bureau reported. One witness said a smaller crest followed later.

Those drowned when the wall of water struck about 2:15 a. m., Sunday, as all-night fishermen were bent on their holiday week-end sport, were:

Merle Edward Diehl, 45; Orlo Lenney, 29, and Lenny's wife, Esther, 25, all of Cortland, O., who were fishing from a small boat at Day's-On-The-Lake, near Geneva.

Merrill F. Riley, 50, of Cleveland, fishing from another small boat at the same location.

Mrs. Esther Allen, 48, and George H. Forrler, 44, both of Berea, O., caught by the wave on a pier at Bay Village, west of Cleveland.

Robert Michaels, 14, of Cleveland, swept off a jetty at Perkins Beach, Cleveland.

John Austin of Wooster, O., Riley's brother-in-law and companion, said "There was a slight swell followed by a strong undertow. The next thing I knew a wall of water about 15 or 20 feet crashed down on us, overturning our boat. I never saw Riley alive again."

The disaster recalled the loss of five lives in a similar tragedy in Lake Michigan, near Holland, Mich., on July 13, 1938. Another huge wave, followed by a giant undertow, swept 11 bathers to death in Lake Erie near Brant, south of Buffalo, N. Y., N. Y., on Aug. 8, 1926.

Property loss to beached boats was believed fairly light. Several yacht clubs reported only minor damage to craft.

Among those injured were: C. H. Durbin, 34, and his wife, Margaret, and Bessie Scott, 14, all of near Alliance, O.

WHEAT STORAGE PROBLEM SEEN

Sen. Capper Predicts Huge Loss Unless Additional Space Provided.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Arthur Capper (R) Kan., said today that unless storage space is found at once for the largest wheat supply in this nation's history, the country will face a spoilage loss that may run to 300,000,000 bushels or more.

Pointing out that people in many parts of the world are starving, Capper asserted that "any loss is shameful."

He estimated that the total of wheat on hand when the 1942 harvest is completed will be about 1,600,000,000 bushels.

This is more wheat, he said, than the nation has ever had before or ever contemplated having and that it will be on hand in the next 30 to 60 days.

Dr. H. C. Trelogan, chief of the marketing section in the office of agricultural war relations said he did not believe the supply would exceed 1,400,000,000 bushels. However, he did confirm Capper's warning that the storage situation is desperate.

Trelogan pointed out also that the nation cannot afford to lose any wheat at this time, placing the grain in the forefront of critical war materials exclusive of its food value.

Union Calls 'Work Stoppage' at Ashland Myers Plant.

ASHLAND—Approximately 700 employes of the F. E. Myers Pump company, the city's largest industrial plant, were absent today in what union officials called a "work stoppage."

Officials of the Machinists and Molders unions, both affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said that their contract had expired today and that the workers were "not going to work until another contract is signed." They declined to call their action a "strike."

The labor leaders said that negotiations on a new contract, being carried on during the past few weeks, had broken down and that no conference for future discussion had been set.

About 50 members of the unions picketed the plant today, allowing only powerhouse and essential office employes to enter. Plant officials could not be reached for comment. They were not in the plant today.

It was reported that the Myers company, which manufactures pumping supplies and farm machinery, had contracts to mount pumping equipment on several military fire trucks parked on the company's premises.

U. S. PROMISES NEW 'COLOGNES' AFTER BIG RAID

Arnold Declares America Will Duplicate Great British Attack on Germany.

succeed without air superiority, and we mean to have it."

He called the gigantic British air raid on Cologne Saturday night a wonderful exhibition, and he added:

"The sooner we have those every night with United States air forces as a component part, the better off we will be."

It was now established that in the Cologne raid, the greatest in the history of aviation, the British used 1,500 planes. One thousand bombed Cologne itself, hurling on it approximately 6,720,000 pounds of explosive and incendiary bombs. They left seven-eighths of the city in flames and the smoke, which rose 15,000 feet, was seen on the coast 135 miles away.

Authoritative sources revealed that the Royal Air Force had assembled a mighty fleet of planes to bomb Germany again last night, but suddenly bad weather forced cancelation of the orders.

Aviation quarters asserted that the British and American air force would be bombing Germany within "a measurable time" with as many as 5,000 planes in a single night, so that a nightly average of 1,000 planes day in and day out could be maintained.

A new phase of the war had been entered with the Cologne raid, which was a new chapter in the brief terrible history of war in the air.

Gen. Arnold, in his statement, said British and American air force officials had agreed that best results would be achieved if American crews flew American planes as American units but in co-operation with the British air force, except when emergency conditions dictated another course.

Describing the vast scope of American plans to join in the offensive against Germany, Arnold said the American air forces would staff American fields in Britain, with their own ground crews, pilots and component units.

They will be under a separate American command which will co-operate with the British.

Arnold said the chief consideration of his talks here had been to insure that the increasing demands of American units on American aircraft production did not impair the British offensive, now or in the future.

Forty-four planes, or 2.93 per cent, failed to return from the Cologne raid.

While Cologne was burning fiercely yesterday and last night, British planes were making two offensive sweeps and many reconnaissance flights over France, Belgium, Holland and the invasion coasts.

They attacked airdromes and other objectives over occupied France and railroads and barge concentrations in Belgium. They sank an armed trawler and sent two other vessels aground.

Germany put casualties in the Cologne raid at 111 dead and "many" wounded

Canterbury Target of Nazi Reprisal Raid

LONDON —(INS)— Striking in frank reprisal for Britain's mammoth air raid on Cologne in which 6,000,000 pounds of bombs left three-quarters of the great Rhineland industrial city in flames, German war planes today raided Canterbury as plans went forward for American participation in new attacks against the Reich.

(Editor's note: A Berlin communique said flatly that the Canterbury attack was "in reprisal for the Cologne bombing.")

The Royal Air Force meanwhile launched a new offensive against northern France. Large formations of bombers roared out across the sunlit straits of Dover, heading for Calais.

News that England's famous old cathedral city, seat of the primate of the Church of England, had been singled out by the Luftwaffe failed to dim the jubilation felt over the record-breaking 1,250-plane attack against Cologne.

Three waves of German bombers took part in the attack on Canterbury. High explosive bombs and incendiaries were dropped, causing considerable damage and casualties.

But there apparently was no comparison between this attack and the devastating raid on Cologne.

Fighting Heavy On Kalinin Front

MOSCOW — (INS) — Heavy fighting was reported in progress today on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, while the attempted German thrust through Red lines to Rostov apparently had been checkmated by the Russian drive toward Kharkov.

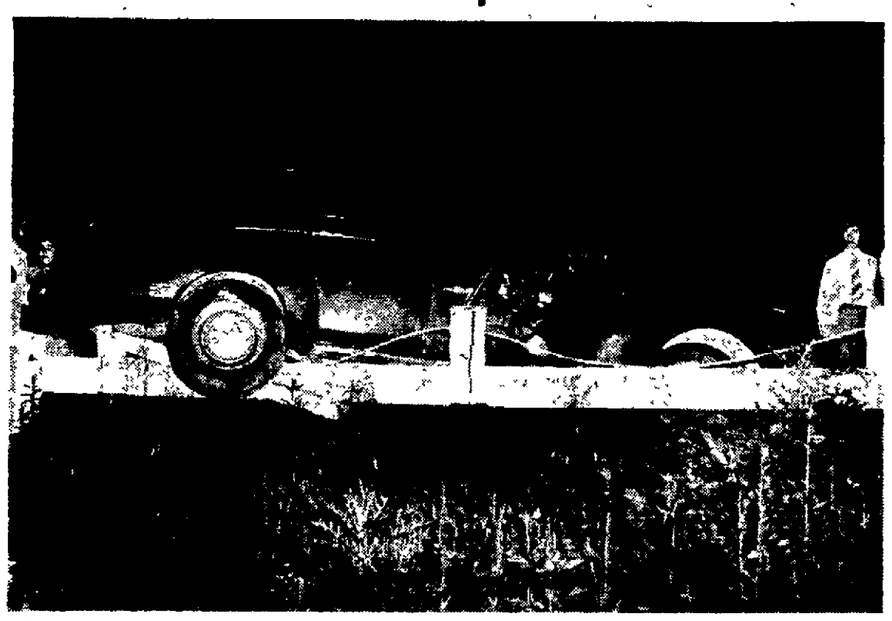
"Nothing of importance" occurred on the ground fronts in Sunday's operations, the official Soviet communique declared last midnight.

This was taken to mean that relative quiet prevailed on southern fighting fronts, where German Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's drive in the Izyum-Barvenkovo sector, menacing Rostov, was offset because Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, anticipating the Nazi plan, began delivering sledgehammer blows in the Kharkov area.

Few details were available in Moscow early today on reported large scale battling on the Kalinin front.

Russian forces, however, according to advices from the battle scene, recaptured several villages, while repulsing German attacks supported by artillery and tank forces.

3 Have Narrow Escape In This Wreck



Three persons had a narrow escape from serious injury when the car in which they were riding rolled over several times on U. S. Route 30-S near Ontario Saturday night and struck the concrete pier of a guard rail. One passenger—Charlotte Cowley, 24, of Columbia Station, suffered a head laceration and bruises about the arms and legs. The driver, Lois Pond of Youngstown, and William Smith, Mansfield, another passenger, escaped injury. Two views of the wrecked car are shown. No fatal accidents were listed in Richland county over the Memorial day week-end, but a Mansfield businessman was killed at Columbus and a Crestline mother and son met death in an accident there.

are sure to perish even if we win the war."

"Faith contributes the even balance to life which was lost when the so-called civilized nations abandoned brotherhood and allowed selfishness to take the high place, plunging into war and dragging many innocent nations with them."

"When I urge you to take faith as a sense of security," Rev. Corwin said, "it is not to encourage you to believe that it will prove to be an insurance against calamity for you or your loved ones or friends."

"Coming nearer to the central truth is the prayer of a young lady for her soldier husband when she said, 'I do not pray that God will protect him from danger, but that God will make him strong and faithful and courageous to do his duty at any cost.'"

"The third contribution of faith is an inner sense of moral and spiritual direction," Rev. Corwin continued. "Too many people are modern Hamlets in their religious lives, they face a great number of things and do none of them."

"Our ideas of God are useless unless they can be tested on the street, in the office, in business, politics, or in personal life."

"With the emphasis on faith," Rev. Corwin concluded, "nothing of value can finally be lost. Civilization shall emerge from this disastrous struggle of war—cleansed, purified and redeemed to find her goal in blessedness and all her dreams come true in God."

Rev. Floyd B. Million, a member of the high school faculty and advisor of the graduating class, gave the Scriptural reading and led prayer.

Special music for the service was presented by the Senior high school a capella choir under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr. The anthem was entitled "Open Our Eyes," by McFarlan.

Robert Early sang the offertory solo "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

extending south from El Gazala on the coast to Bir Hacheim on the British left flank.

It appeared that Rommel, pulling back his advance forces to escape their annihilation behind the British line southwest of Tobruk, had succeeded in getting most of his tanks and armored cars back to the irregular line, although perhaps in preparation for a new strong drive eastward.

Rommel's extrication of his panzer forces through the two gaps in the British forward positions meant that he had completely failed in his efforts to smash through to the British rear areas and imperil the entire defense system of Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's eighth imperial army, it was said.

Barrage Balloons Guard California Military Zones

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— The gas masks, the steel helmet and the barrage balloon—all of them preparations against enemy attack which official Washington thinks may come at any time—became commonplace sights along the Pacific coast today.

A survey disclosed that countless balloons, probably surpassing even Britain's balloon barrage, now protect every strategic military point along the west coast, from San Diego to Seattle.

The usefulness of such concentrations was proved in England, where many a raiding Nazi plane crashed to destruction after snagging steel cables dangling from the high-flying balloons.

Policemen, firemen and air raid wardens were issued gas masks. Steel helmets also were passed out to San Diego police, who went on a 12-hour shift with no days off.

Southern California civilian defenders received gas masks. Forty thousand were distributed in Seattle, and more than 30,000 in the San Francisco Bay region.

Nazis Guard Against 'Workers' Uprising'

LONDON — (INS) -- Belgian circles in London today reported extreme precautionary measures by German officials in Berlin to prevent a "workers' uprising."

The reports said that 250,000 storm troopers had been stationed in Berlin to forestall disorders.

Important street intersections in the Moabit district, a workers' area, were taken over by armed Nazis, according to the reports.

Gestapo men were placed on guard at official buildings. Men and women accused of subversive talk are "constantly disappearing," it was said.

Says Allies Prepare To Invade Europe

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, said at a press conference today that the British raid on Cologne was in direct preparation for an invading Allied land force in western Europe.

He learned of the bombing of the German city while en route to Ohio by train to deliver the commencement address at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

"With your help, we shall continue to strike even harder at other points," he said. "This Cologne raid is a vital element in the plans for a second front. Practically all land transportation between western Europe and Germany passes through Cologne. We are now striking at their transportation."

shores of the southeastern part of the Australian continent where nearly all its 7,000,000 people are centered, along with war industry and the ports which receive the vital supplies from the United States.

It was believed that the submarines had been launched from a mother ship, operating somewhere off the coast, because it seemed definite that they were midget craft, with very short ranges, and the nearest Japanese bases in the Solomon islands and New Guinea are 2,000 miles away.

Two hours before his announcement of the Sydney raid, MacArthur had issued his regular communique, No. 45 from his Southwest Pacific United Nations headquarters, reporting big allied plane raids on three of the chief Japanese invasion bases.

Dili and Koepang, the chief towns respectively of Portuguese and Netherlands Timor island, and Lae on the north coast of New Guinea, were the targets.

In their new raids, Allied planes centered on the harbor area at Dili and on the airdrome at Koepang. At Lae, they hurled bombs directly on the airdrome runway and on the dock area, and started fires in buildings. One enemy plane tried to intercept at Lae. It was driven off.

CHUNGKING —(AP)— Chinese regulars and guerrillas in Anhwei province are striking at the Japanese in a vast series of attacks extending from 20 miles from Nanking, seat of the Japanese-sponsored Chinese government, on up the Yangtze more than 175 miles airline inland.

In their first quick surge, a Chinese communique said, the attackers succeeded in occupying a number of points in the outer defense area of Anking, in southwestern Anhwei, while forces moving against Hofei, in the center of the province 70 miles from the Yangtze, had reached the suburbs.

The broad series of actions was begun May 25, the war bulletin reported.

The boy in the uniform doesn't call it morale. That's a cold potatoes word for something John American feels deep and warm inside.

Perhaps he can't give it a name. But he can tell you what it's made of.

It's made of the thrill he gets when his troop train stops at a junction point and fifty good-looking girls are at the station with cigarettes.

It's made of the appreciation he feels for a bright new USO clubhouse where he can go for a few hours' rest and relaxation.

It's made of laughter and music—when Bob Hope or Lana Turner visits his camp with a USO show.

It's made of his invitations to the homes of pleasant strangers.

It's even made of a cup of coffee and a Yankee smile—at a lone outpost.

Maybe it's just a feeling of kinship with this land of a hundred million generous people. Maybe it's just the understanding that this whole country cares; that the soldier is bone of our bone; that he and we are one.

Name it if you can. But it's the secret weapon of a democratic army—a weapon that can never be ersatzed in Germany or Japan.

What can you do to sharpen this weapon? Give to the USO.

This great national service organization that overrides race and creed has been entrusted by your government with responsibility for the service man's leisure needs. With maintaining clubhouses and providing camp shows, with a hundred thoughtful services to our men at home and abroad.

The needs of USO have grown as enormously as our armed forces themselves. This Spring we must have $32,000,000.

Give all you can—whether it's a lot or a little. But give it now.

Send your contribution to Richland County Council of USO, 43 Park Ave. West; or be ready for the volunteer USO canvassers when they call June 1st to 15th.

Invading Germany By Air

A HINT of what is in store for western Germany and Nazi-occupied territory, pending final victory over the Axis powers, was seen in the mass air assault on Cologne Saturday night, in which more than one thousand bomber and fighter planes participated.

While a land invasion of the continent may be considered impracticable for the present, the increasing air power of the United Nations points the way to military action which may have an even greater devastating effect on the Hitler war machine than would the landing of a large invasion force.

And the psychological result of bombardment and destruction of German cities, "one after another" as is promised, will likely be more effective than the kind of warfare carried on in France during World War I, when German territory escaped the ravages incident to actual invasion.

With expressions of growing confidence coming out of Russia and with the Libyan campaign turning in favor of the British, the present phase of war in the air over Germany promises further advance toward accomplishment of the Allies' first objective—defeat of Hitler in Europe—so that the full strength of the United Nations may be turned against Japan.

Use of the large number of planes and the immense quantity of explosives—estimated at 6,000,000 pounds—in the 90-minute Cologne raid, gives an idea of the great need for ample supplies of planes, munitions and men to carry on this type of warfare, and it is upon American-made planes that much dependence will be placed to carry the war to Germany with steadily increasing force.

Fatal Automobile Accident

MANSFIELD has again sustained the shock of learning of the death of a widely-known citizen in an automobile accident.

In the death of Robert E. Burns this community loses the representative of his generation in carrying the family name through Mansfield history from pioneer days, in connection with business and professional activities. It is gratifying to know that two sons, now in military service, perpetuate the male line of the Burns family through the fourth generation of Mansfield associations.

A motor trip to and from Columbus seems such a routine matter that it is difficult to realize that it involves danger, and possible loss of life.

Ruling Shows Poor Judgment

CONSIDERING all the public relations men on government payrolls, it would seem that the recent order of the office of price administration barring information on local tire and tube quotas would have been stopped before it got beyond the discussion stage.

The excuse for the order, according to John E. Hamm, senior deputy administrator, is that the information seems "only to confuse the public."

More than any other government bureau, the OPA needs the public's confidence. A quick way for it to lose this confidence is for bureaucrats to begin hiding rationing news from the public. The majority of citizens may be utterly uninterested in county quotas, but the point is that if OPA officials can get away with suppression of information on this subject they can expand their censorship to any subject in their vast domain.

The American people are still boss of their public servants and they are entitled to full and honest information of the acts of those servants, excepting military secrets.

Death Ends Remarkable Career

THE STRANGE career of John Barrymore has come to an end—with his faithful brother Lionel at his side, as he had been so many times in the past when there was need for a helpful hand.

Oddly mixed forces of genius, fine attributes of character and a variety of human weaknesses combined in an unusual way to make the John Barrymore whose brilliance brought prominence and whose escapades resulted in notoriety—to an extent probably unequalled in American theatrical history.

From the height of a stage and screen career in which he amassed several fortunes, with notable artistic achievements, Barrymore dropped to the role of radio buffoon, in an effort to earn enough to pay off heavy indebtedness, which he regarded as an obligation that must be met.

At sixty Barrymore was more physically and mentally aged than are some men a score or more years older—but it was his own ideas of living that he carried into practice and he once said of dying: "When my time comes, I want to go like my uncle, John Drew, he died like a gentleman. His death truly was artistic."

To John Barrymore the world was literally a stage—and before the final curtain was rung down he played many parts.

Where Enemies are Thickest

ONE of the most stimulating bits of war news lately has been an explanation of Marshal Timoshenko's strategy on the Russian front. According to the American interpreter doing the explaining, it was the essence of simplicity and directness.

The marshal delivered his heaviest attack at Kharkov instead of the Kerch peninsula because there were the most Germans at Kharkov. To him, the fighting is best where the enemy is thickest. The more there are, the better, he thinks, because he can destroy more of them.

It is probably stark realism like this that will win the war, rather than fancy theories and maneuvering for position and efforts to fool the enemy.

When German morale reaches a sufficiently low ebb the final blow may be dealt by dropping the name Hitler and putting Adolf back in the Schicklgruber family.

LET'S GET AT IT.

Heavier Taxes to Curb Inflation

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

SOME kinds of wartime scarcity are all to the good. If they do not manifest themselves voluntarily, we deliberately think up ways to stimulate them. There are other varieties that we lie awake nights to devise methods of counteracting.

It's been widely publicized that, among other things, we are in imminent danger of having too much money to spend. If that happens, folk will blow it in on merchandise that we wish to conserve, thus creating scarcities in the wrong classifications.

Theoretically we can ration them, but, if we've got the dough, it is a cinch that we always would be able to find bootleggers to keep them supplied, at fancy figures. A few would be caught at it, but only a small proportion. Bootleggers' high prices would result in inflation, concerning which we have heard so much. Soon after the war there would be a crash and then an awful depression.

The only way to forestall this sequence is by busting the public so financially flat that it MUST economize.

That's to be accomplished (if it CAN be accomplished) by taxation. Largely it will be income taxation. There is no use in trying to quote statistics, for they are already being "rassled" over by congressional committees, the treasury department and all sorts of economists, and nobody knows yet just what the conclusion'll be. However, the indications are thar few folk will be left, after footing the revenue collector's bill, to waste any simoleons.

That $5 Limit.

One suggestion, though, is interesting.

Many workers' pay is so small that, though skimpily sufficient to taxation, the impost is only a nickel or two, maybe. Well, say that one of these guys makes a return. His return involves a clerical expense of about $1 to handle. Collection from HIM is at a governmental loss, consequently.

Okay. In that event he is to pay $5 to have his return examined.

In other words, if the chap's income is too small to be profitably taxable, he is to be fined $5 because it isn't.

Hitherto the system has been to have a hireling save up his pay, week by week or month by month, and then pay his tax in a single chunk or quarterly. Now the notion is to have his boss hold out the proper weekly or monthly proportion, hand it over to Uncle Sam and leave the worker with a clean slate at the year's end.

Automotive Scarcity.

Automobiles? They're scarce, due to tire and gasoline shortages. That's a real scarcity, according to Glenn L. Martin, as spokesman for his aircraft company. That concern's got to have raw material to produce planes. It calls for buzz wagons, though, to deliver the stuff at its factory doors, ad lib. Automotive restrictions? The undesirability of that shortage speaks for itself!

There's scrap between gasoline and rubber.

Tires need to be economized more than gas does, Charles L. Dearing of the Brookings Institution's management, testifies. He wants autos restricted, but not so much because of fuel as because of dwindling gum supplies. I've already had occasion to quote Elliot L. Simpson, a big Yankee rubberite, to the effect that the rubber campaign's origin is with half a dozen big corporations, seeking to squeeze all peewees out of business.

Health and Diet

Effects of War On the Nerves.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ALL the books and medical articles which come out of England on the subject of the diseases of the civil population in war time stress the fact that the greatest danger is the nervous system. "The war of nerves" is a very accurate designation of the situation.

It is possible for the nervous system to go to pieces in various ways as a result of the stresses of war events. Of course, a person may have a nervous system perfectly well geared to handle the average, ordinary tasks. Yet some may go entirely to pieces if some extraneous event is precipitated into the routine.

If this extraneous event should be something so sudden and drastic as a bomb bursting in front of the house and tearing away the front of the house, or the sudden news of the death of a son in service, it is not surprising that it might make a mental derelict of the person permanently.

Mental Dereliction

What is the nature of this mental dereliction? One thing is that the individual may withdraw into himself and divorce the outside world from his consciousness and lapse into a state of inarticulateness or melancholia, or in the case of young people, the condition known as dementia praecox.

Another natural thing is for them to try to forget the event, and in doing so, they may by a process of suggestion, forget something else which is a part of themselves. This is the condition which is known as hysteria.

The best definition I have heard of the psychological condition of a patient with hysteria is that it is a form of loss of memory. One of the major symptoms of hysteria is the divided personality.

These Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde individuals are not at all a product of Stevenson's imagination. There are plenty of real examples in which an individual has a split personality so that some time he is Mr. A and other times he is Mr. B. It does not necessarily follow, that as in the cases of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, one personality is all good and one personality is all bad, but that while he is Mr. A he forgets all about Mr. B. Sometimes, curiously enough, when A finds that his bank account is overdrawn, he says perfectly rationally, "B did that," as if he were talking about an entirely different person.

Symptoms of Hysteria

All the symptoms of hysteria, such as constriction of the visual fields, the paralysis and the tantrums can be explained on the basis of a form of forgetfulness. For instance, one symptom of hysteria is numbness.

Now, of course, numbness or anesthesia may occur to the skin due to an injury to a nerve, but anesthesia of the hand, if due to a nerve injury, involves only three and one-half fingers on one side or one and one-half fingers on the other side and the anesthesia extends up the arm.

Hysterical anesthesia of the hand does not follow this pattern, but the anesthesia stops in a definite ring around the wrist. The hysterical person has forgotten the mental concept of the hand. Differential diagnosis between organic and functional disease can be made in this way.

So if a person says to you, "You have forgotten yourself," he really is saying, "You are hysterical," and it may happen in war time.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Frankfurter Has Large Influence Behind the Scenes In Washington

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Today, the last day of the present Supreme Court term, Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen award the brass ring, good for one free ride on The Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Justice Felix Frankfurter.)

WASHINGTON—The entire British Empire was set just a bit agog last winter when the Australian minister in Washington announced that Justice Felix Frankfurter had advised him to take a post in the British cabinet. The Australian government was especially agog and its prime minister said so publicly.

To a lot of other people also it seemed queer that a justice of the U. S. Supreme Court should be dipping his fingers into vital affairs of the British Empire.

But to those behind-the-scenes in Washington this was no surprise at all. For today, as the Supreme Court winds up its current term, it is a fact that second only to the president himself, Justice Felix Frankfurter has more to do with guiding our destinies of war than anyone in Washington.

He does this through having put his own men in three key cabinet posts; through being on intimate terms with the British Ambassador Lord Halifax and the Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong; and through having one of his old students, Dean Acheson, sit at the right hand of Secretary of State Hull.

Almost no move of major importance is made these days without Frankfurter having his finger in it. If the president is sending a mission to India to help the British settle their independence problems, Justice Frankfurter sits in on discussions. If an investigation is to be made of Pearl Harbor, Frankfurter recommends his friend Justice Owen Roberts—who is appointed. If a federal judge is to be named in Massachusetts, Frankfurter recommends his old pupil Charles Wyzanski, and Wyzanski is appointed.

Uncle Interned.

ADDITIONAL to all reasons for being zealous about the war, Frankfurter has special, personal incentives. He was born in Vienna, a country taken in one gulp by Hitler. And when he swallowed it, Hitler threw Frankfurter's aged uncle into a concentration camp. These factors, plus the presecution of his race, long before Pearl Harbor, made Frankfurter one of the most energetic and effective promoters of intervention.

Several times his friends have suggested that a Supreme Court justice should not meddle in the executive branch of the government; that the constitution created the judiciary as a check on the executive, not a collaborator; that he should not be quite so open in dashing back and forth between the British embassy and the war department.

However, nothing has daunted Frankfurter. Justices Van Devanter and Southard were criticised when they were consulted regarding Republican politics in Wyoming and Utah. But the blithesome, passionate, tireless Mr. Frankfurter considers himself in a different category.

Close Friend Stimson.

THE THREE key cabinet members indebted to Frankfurter for their jobs are Attorney General Biddle, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox. In addition, Frankfurter put Dean Acheson in as assistant secretary of state with an eye to taking Hull's place when he retires.

Knox was urged on Roosevelt by Frankfurter as a great political stroke to swing the Republicans into line and also the middle-west. The president, according to White House intimates, did not want Knox at first. He had been too bitter a critic while running for vice president. But finally he yielded to Felix.

Biddle always has been a protege of Frankfurter's, but has cooled toward him recently, remarking to friends that he was "too indiscreet to be trusted."

However, Felix's greatest influence is in the war department. There two close and very dear friends are the secretary of war and undersecretary of war, while two of his students, John J. McCloy and Robert Lovett are assistant secretaries of war. This great influence in the war department probably was why "the little justice," as he is called by old students, went so far as recommending the court-martialing of an army officer, Col. Truman Smith, because he was supposed to be writing Lindbergh's speeches.

Frankfurter and Stimson have been intimate friends for thirty years. When Stimson was district attorney of New York in 1906, he brought Frankfurter in as his assistant. Later when Stimson became secretary of war under Taft, he gave Frankfurter a job in the war department. During the last war, both men at first were in the judge advocate general's office of the reserve corps. Then when Stimson became secretary of state under Hoover, Frankfurter staffed most of the high-ranking offices in the state department for him.

So it is not surprising that on occasion, cabinet officers have walked in on the secretary of war unannounced, and found him with a little pad of paper taking down notes as Frankfurter talked.

No Love on Court.

DESPITE all these activities, Felix manages to spend some time at the Supreme Court; though his relations there are not the happiest. His closest friend, strangely enough, is the court's only remaining conservative, Owen Roberts, who has become especially intimate since Frankfurter got him the Pearl Harbor assignment.

Frankfurter also gets on reasonably well with Stone, whose appointment as Chief Justice he engineered with Roosevelt. He is also on good terms with Justice Jackson, who would like to be chief justice after Stone retires, and is fully aware that Felix could help get the position for him.

But with Justices Douglas, Black and Murphy, Frankfurter has been engaged in so many backstage fights that they merely keep up the amenities.

(Another column regarding Justice Frankfurter's contributions to the war effort and the Supreme Court will follow soon.)

HEARD in the navy press room: A sailor after 20 years service retired with a sizeable fortune of $60,000. He amassed this sum through careful investment, enterprise, initiative — and the death of an uncle who left him $59,000 ...The war department's service of supply shortly will release a new movie called, "The Army Behind the Army," showing America's vast war production machine. The picture will be shown in defense plants throughout the country—Josephus Daniels, World War I secretary of the navy and until recently ambassador to Mexico, has loaned his gold-plated binoculars to the navy for the duration. The navy is very anxious to obtain as many binoculars as possible....The war department soon will revise its daily communique system to produce more frequent reports.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

The whole country is wondering what it's going to do about vacations, but part of the answer is getting pretty close for the hundreds of thousands of government employes who work in Washington.

They probably will get two weeks. This is about two weeks less than usual, but the theory is that if some rest and relaxation isn't accorded the war workers, they'll fold up under the strain. The catch is what the vacationists will do with their time.

With no gasoline, pleasure travel on airplanes already out and a similar curtailment threatened in bus and train travel, it looks as if Rock Creek Park, Hains Point and the Great Falls of the Potomac will be swamped this summer. By one of those queer twists which only wartime can bring, this may be Washington's biggest vacation year—with its own inhabitants.

THE capital is undergoing another perversity. In spite of all the commuting INTO town, the commuting out is threatening to outdo it. Sections of OPA, the Census bureau and other agencies now are located at Suitland. The new Army building in Arlington, across the Potomac, employs thousands and will employ thousands more.

The Navy Medical center is up the road quite a piece at Bethesda, Md. The list can go on and on. Some workers who live in the District of Columbia are even commuting to government offices in Baltimore. It's a situation that the housing experts hadn't figured on when they advocated decentralization of government to suburban districts and nearby cities.

WAR hardships are springing up all over the land, but this sad tale came from a treasury employe the other day. In a burst of patriotism, plus sales pressure from bosses in his own department, he agreed to subscription to war bonds to the extent of 19 per cent of his salary. If present congressional recommendations go through, his next year's income tax will amount to ten per cent of his gross salary. He claims his cost of living is up eight per cent of his gross salary. Yet in the last two years, on civil service, he has had no increase in wages. His war bonds, of course, are NOT only NOT loss, but savings at interest.

Still, if Secretary Morgenthau wants to discover why Washington war bond and stamp sales are not greater than they are, he could ask a few questions of the middle-income bracket employes in his own department.

Some of the bigwig government employers around here apparently already have because the agitation for a "wartime bonus" for government workers in Washington, is reaching real proportions. The most favored move on foot at present is to pay the "bonus" in war bonds, to which there hasn't been the slightest objection.

THE FBI has come forward with the enlightening information that automobile accessory thefts jumped 26 per cent in the first three months of 1942 and the thefts of bicycles 20 per cent. That is pretty staggering in view of the fact that such thefts haven't varied more than a few per cent for many years.

A Farmer's Diary

Hen Pheasant

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

NORTH of the little bridge, along the stream that empties into Honey Creek—not more than 20 feet from where autos pass—I saw a brooding mother pheasant, on the nest. It was near the top of an uneven bank, with a heavy growth of bluegrass all around it. When I first discovered her, I was not more than six feet away, and involuntarily stepped back, as one who treads lightly near a cot where a child is fast asleep.

The mottled dark and drab gray coat appeared much like the withered grass that showed between the green new growth of stems. She turned her pretty slender head and watched me with one eye, but did not move a feather. She looked so demure and prim and altogether right that I had to smile. I thought she could not have chosen a site that was more desirable.

For here on the bank above the gurgling brook, she has not far to go for water or food. Here the morning sun strikes first and dissolves the dew upon the grass and her dampened feathers. Here she has the protection of traffic against wild marauders. Here she may watch the water-babies of the stream playing in the spring-fed riffles—salamanders, tadpoles and newborn snakes amid the threadlike algae. From the deep seclusion of her cell she can hear the cheery call of her mate not far away. A pair of turtle doves light on the wires above. Meadowlarks are in the clover across the highway.

The old white oak by a walled-up spring casts a portion of its shadow over her home. Tender painted leaves, not yet full grown, make wavering reflections of light and shade across the greenness of the land. At the base of the old trunk, in an ancient cavity, a groundhog has his lair. Perhaps he waddles over a narrow strip of fallowed corn and grazes near the pheasant to bring the news from all the wild neighborhood.

I wondered, if when her 18 or 20 brown eggs hatch, the touch of tiny downy heads softly moving up against her breast would repay her for her long and tiresome vigil, or if protecting, feeding and training her young brood would worry her unduly. But when I looked again at her nestled there, so independent and cute and full of nature's own wisdom, I knew the answer. And in my heart I blessed her quiet courage, and was proud to share her secret.

Murder On the Avenue

By Carolyn Wells

(Copyright, 1942.)

CHAPTER XXIV

"Mrs. Wiley, where can I find Wiley's pal, Ben Monk?" Cobb said. "Also tell me what you know about the Mrs. Terrill and I'll prove my gratitude in the way you want it proved."

"Will you promise never to tell that I helped you in these things?"

"I'll promise to keep your name out of it, but if they suspect it, I can't help that."

"Well, Mrs. Terrill, at that time lived on Baker street near Courtney avenue, but I don't know as she's still there. And Ben Monk, you can find somewhere in Coulter's alley, it's a small place."

"All right, and if these addresses pan out, you'll hear from me again."

Peter Cobb found Coulter's alley a more decent locality than he had expected. But Ben Monk was out of town, a neighbor told him, and wouldn't be back until the next day. As this was only the second day of Cobb's Chicago search, he was not disheartened, but went blithely to corral Mrs. Terrill.

He found her in her Baker street home, she was still taking boarders, although, as she told him, it was many years since she had had Jenny Wiley among her guests. She denounced John Wiley. She had never known the first Mrs. Wiley, but the second one was—oh lawks!

"As how?" Cobb asked.

"Oh, stuck-up, spiteful, snippy and disagreeable generally."

"She came to see the little girl?"

"Only a few times. Jenny ran away to hide when she knew her step-mother was coming."

"What became of Jenny?"

"It was like a fairy-tale. You see, John Wiley paid the child's board all right at first; then he was always behind with his payments and then he didn't pay at all. But by that time, Jenny was going to art school and she was making good. A lovely lady took a shine to her and helped her a lot. Then the lady, Mrs. Stanton her name was, died, and she left Jenny some money, not a fortune, but enough so Jenny could go to New York to study art. She thought it would be better than Chicago. She told me she was going to change her name because she was ashamed of her father. I told her that was wrong, but she wouldn't listen to me. Headstrong she was always. She wouldn't tell me what name she meant to take. I've never heard a word from her. Sort of mean, I think, after all I did for her!"

"What did you do for her?"

"I kept her here long after her father didn't pay her board! I guess that's something!"

"Yes, it is. If you could help me find her in New York, it would be worth your while."

"Really? Well, it mightn't help much, but I could give you one steer."

"Better give it, and if it amounts to anything, I'll see you get some reward for it."

"Well, it's the names of the art schools she went to here. Three of 'em she attended, and I'll bet the teachers in some of 'em could tell you where Jenny fetched up in New York."

"Good for you, Mrs. Terrill; let me have the addresses."

Cobb spent the afternoon visiting the art schools, but as the events he was interested in took place seven or eight years ago, it was difficult to trace them. Art schools seemed fond of changing their teachers and few remembered the young art student who was a protege of Mrs. Stanton. But it was a starter for the discovery of Jenny Wiley, or at any rate, the optimistic Cobb thought so, and banked happily on his belief.

Next morning, he started again for Coulter's alley and the redoubtable Ben Monk. Somehow the name was intimidating. But young Cobb was valiant, and he had a cheering notion that he was on the right track. But Ben Monk didn't think that at all.

"What are you up to, young feller?" he growled out of one corner of a loose-hung mouth. "You gettahell outa here!"

"Say," Cobb said, confidentially, "you tell me something I want to know, and I'll make it worth your while."

But it seemed that no outside matters were worth the very valuable while of Ben Monk.

"Whazzat!" he said, belligerently, "you a tryin' to compound a fellerny! You better stop it!"

"Not at all!" Cobb almost laughed. "It's all in the interests of justice. I want to know a little something about John Wiley."

"Yer do, hey! And what's John Wiley ever done to you that you've got it in fer him?"

"I haven't got it in for him! Mr. Monk, I don't mean any harm to Wiley or you either—"

Monk roared with laughter.

"Yer don't mean any harm to me, eh, snippet! Well you're lucky that you don't. Now, what are you after? Out with it!"

"I want to know what name Wiley is in jail under, that's all."

Ben Monk's jaw dropped.

"Hey, Cully," he said, with a bit more courtesy in his tones, "now what little bird flew down out of the blue and told you that John Wiley was in jail by any name?"

"That's a secret between me and the little bird. Why are you so wrought up over Wiley's being in jail? He's frequently there, you know."

"Aw, take it friendly like, young feller. I didn't mean no harm. Who are you, anyway?"

"Just a guardian of the peace. But I think you won't make me any more trouble. I must go now. I have a date with Wiley.

Monk stood and stared after this strange young man.

Back in his hotel room, Cobb called Stone and told him the whole story.

"All right, Cobb," the detective said. "You've done fine work. Now you go to headquarters, find the chief and tell him the story. Ask him if he can't find Wiley. Then ask him not to do or say anything to Wiley, after he discovers him, but to keep him in jail, until I can get there. If he seems doubtful or anything ask him to call me tonight at 7 o'clock sharp. Keep an eye on your savage Monk. There are developments here, and maybe I can't get away for a few days. So you see to it that Wiley is identified and held. On no account let him get loose."

Having found out who bought the diamond bangle, Stone wanted to interview Van Dyke Haynes on the subject. Also, Miss Emmy McCleod had asked him to come to see her on a matter she wished to consult him about. Though pressed for time, Stone thought it might be worth his while to have a confab with the sharp-sighted Scotch woman, and he went there first.

Foo Chow admitted him, and when he asked for Miss McCleod the butler said:

"Mr. McAllowed says tell you he like see you first."

"Very well," Stone answered, "but I am hurried. Bring him quick."

Hugh soon appeared, and was courteous though somewhat perturbed.

"How d'do, Stone? Sit down, sit down. Give me a few minutes before you see Emmy, won't you? I'll be brief. You know what Emmy wants of you?"

Stone realized that Hugh was in a nervous state.

"I am not sure I know what Miss McCleod wants," Stone said, "but I think it has to do with her financial affairs."

"Yes," Hugh looked annoyed, "yes, that is it. A fine thing, to be asking a great detective to look after a tuppenny ha'penny bit of business! But you'll have to see her, Mr. Stone, since you have agreed to do so. Now, please do this. Tell her you are a busy man and you can't take up matters outside your own line of work."

"But I may be able to give her some good advice."

"So can any lawyer, so can any bank clerk. Why ask for your valuable time! But never mind that; since you are going to see her, just advise her,—she'll listen to you,—not to have any dealings with Ogden Murray."

"I scarcely know Mr. Murray."

"He was trying to sell my wife some worthless stocks or shares in a fake oil well. Now, he is trying to dispose of those same shares to my sister. I am asking you to dissuade her from buying them, that's all."

"Why don't you want her to buy them?"

McCleod looked at him, almost scornfully. "Because it is simply throwing money away. I am a rich man, but that is no reason a large amount of my money should be presented to Mr. Murray, for no value received."

"That is true, Mr McCleod. If your sister asks my advice, I shall certainly tell her not to conduct such large deals herself, but to consult you or her lawyer."

"That's all I ask of you, Mr. Stone. I will send Emmy to you here."

"How is your father, sir? Improving, I trust."

"No, Mr. Stone; he is no better. Nor ever will be. My life is now a sad one."

"I fear it is. Can you go away for a short trip, and regain your good health and mental serenity?"

"I wish I might, but I am tied here by my father and sister. Oh, that's another thing. My sister, now, that I am alone, wants to give up their apartment and live down here with me. I say no word against my sister, but to live with her would drive me distracted in no time at all! And my father's illness and necessary attendants and doctors and sick room atmosphere would be more than I could stand. My sister is tyrannical and dictatorial and I love her. But I cannot live with her. Won't you say something to her to make her see that the arrangement of our living in one apartment cannot be brought about at present. I know I am asking a great deal of you, but it is a crisis, and my sister has great respect for your opinions and advice."

"I understand, Mr. McCleod. May I suggest also, that you want and need a little diversion from your sad thoughts, a little change of scene, association with your men friends and a relief now and then, from the atmosphere of your saddened home?"

"Yes, that is right, but Emmy won't see it that way. Please give her a hint."

"I will, I assure you."

GIVES HOUSEWIVES TIPS ON CARE OF VACUUM CLEANERS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Note to housewives:

With production to new vacuum cleaners scheduled to end April 30, you'll want to keep your old model working smoothly for the duration.

Here are the office of price administration's hints to homemakers on how to obtain continued efficiency from your old vacuum cleaner:

Don't delay in making necessary repairs.

Clean and oil the motor regularly.

Empty the dust bag every time you use the vacuum.

Clean brushes after using and keep them free of hair and threads.

Don't run the machine over pins, nails, metal objects or glass. Pick these up by hand.

Don't injure the electrical cord by running the vacuum over it. Replace frayed cords.

Don't leave the motor running when not actually performing a cleaning operation.

Adjust the nozzle to the pile of your rug and push the vacuum back and forth at a speed of one to two feet per second, for greatest efficiency.

Use the vacuum cleaner regularly to obtain longer use from rugs, upholstery, draperies and other fabrics which may be hard to replace.

Remove wool lint, moth eggs and larvae from closet corners with your vacuum as one way of protecting scarce woolen blankets and clothing.

If you buy a new vacuum, make sure that it bears the maximum price on the label. Retail prices on vacuum cleaners have been pegged permanently at the levels of Oct. 1-15, 1941.

MANSFIELDERS ATTEND WEST POINT WEDDING

Thomas J. Hanley III and Miss Elma Evans Wed In Chapel Day After His Graduation From Military Academy.

WHEN Thomas J. Hanley III, son of Brigadier General and Mrs. T. J. Hanley, jr., was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point on Friday and was married to Miss Elma Evans of Middletown, N. Y., on Saturday, relatives from Mansfield were in attendance. He is the grandson of Thomas J. Hanley and the nephew of Miss Veronica Hanley and J. O. Hanley of this city. Also present for the ceremonies was another aunt, Mrs. Raymey S. Curtis and her son, Thomas Hanley Curtis, of Columbus. Young Mr. Curtis will enter the academy on July 1.

The beautiful and impressive formal wedding took place at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in the chapel at West Point. Full dress uniforms were worn by the bridegroom and his attendants. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Evans of Middletown, N. Y., was attired in a lovely white chiffon wedding gown. Her bridal veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white orchids. Aqua chiffon gowns were worn by the five bridesmaids. Their accessories were yellow and coronets held their aqua veils in place. They carried bouquets of blue delphinium. Mrs. Evans chose a gray lace dress and Mrs. Hanley, mother of the bridegroom, appeared in a white lace dress. Each had a corsage of lavender orchids.

General Hanley was best man for his son. At the graduation exercises, five members of the class of 1915 presented sabers to their sons who were members of the 1942 graduating class General Hanley was one of the five fathers to participate in the ceremony.

The altar was beautifully decorated with peonies for the occasion. When the couple left the church they passed beneath the crossed sabers of the bridegroom's classmates. Immediately after the ceremony there was a reception at the Storm King Arms, near the Academy. Young Mrs Hanley cut the wedding cake with her husband's new saber. The couple went from West Point to Pine Bluff, Ark., where the bridegroom will be stationed after June 3 as a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Yes, I can see him, now," I told my father. "Ronald and I have just finished our talk."

Ronald had risen and my father smiled at him.

"If you'll just come with me," he said, "we'll leave your aunt Madge to her interview with Charles."

They went to the door, and my father turned back to say: "It's all right. Charles told me all about it."

He went out of the room without waiting for my answer, but I knew what he meant. Jack had revealed his identity to him, but I did not think he had said anything about the problem he faced with Katharine.

I waited tensely for Jack's arrival Just before he entered I heard my father's low voice from outside.

"You don't mind if I lock this door," he said. "When you have finished your interview, knock loudly here and I will come back."

"All right," I heard Jack say. Then he came rapidly across the outer room and stopped just inside the door of the room in which I sat.

"Come over here and sit down, Jack," I said, trying to keep down my repulsion at his atrocious disguise as a hillbilly farmhand, with unkempt hair and beard.

"I can't blame you," he said suddenly, and I remembered how he always had been able to read my thoughts. "I look an awful mess. I was strongly tempted to get 'all shaven and shorn,' but I don't dare. Except for your keen eyes and your father's, my disguise has passed muster so far, or at least I think it has. Perhaps I've been wrong too, about some of the others—the ones I really want to fool"

Cheered Up by Madge.

My conscience suddenly smote me. To have gotten even with what I deemed his irritating cocksureness was one thing To have deflated him to the point of doubt and questioning was another.

"Will it make you feel better" I asked a bit shamefacedly, "if I tell you that Father did not recognize you until I had given him a clue by saying I had something important to tell him after he had asked who you were? His intuition did the rest. But he probably slurred that part of it when he talked to you."

"Well, he didn't stress it," he admitted, with a twitching at the corners of his mouth. Then he added ruefully: "But I didn't fool you."

Tells How She Found Out

"But you did," I told him just as ruefully. "I told you an awful tarradiddle, Jack. I couldn't help it. You were so subtly insulting when you said, 'The name is Mrs. Graham, I believe,' or words to that effect, that I couldn't help trying to take you down a peg."

"You did, all right," Jack said. He was visibly cheered, however, by the knowledge that I had not penetrated his disguise at first sight "But, if you didn't know me then, how did you find out?"

"Partly by the way you guessed" —I tapped the telephone—"and when I heard that you had identified yourself to Professor Diswell as 'Shawn Rue' I knew beyond doubt who you were.

"But," I went on hastily, before he could make any comment, "I was prepared for the discovery by a bit of snooping I had done when alone in Professor Diswell's house."

Carved Ivory Cube.

He fixed suddenly quickened eyes upon me, as I opened my purse and took from it the carved ivory cube which my mother long ago had given him as a watch fob charm.

"I am not particularly proud of getting this, Jack," I said, as I held it out to him. "But actually it seemed as if something outside of myself drew me to that inner room, and led me to find the hidden compartment in its floor."

His fingers were trembling as he took the trinket from me.

"I am sorry you did get it," he said. "I left it there because I wanted no clue to my identity on me. I had instructed Professor Diswell to destroy it if anything happened to me. I could not bear to crush it into bits myself."

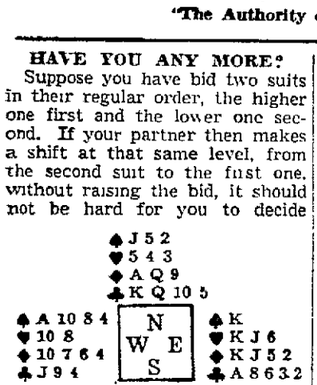
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

HAVE YOU ANY MORE?

Suppose you have bid two suits in their regular order, the higher one first and the lower one second. If your partner then makes a shift at that same level, from the second suit to the first one, without raising the bid, it should not be hard for you to decide whether to raise If your hand is minimum—that is, no stronger than you absolutely required to make the bids you have already made—you should pass. A raise by you at such a time is unsound unless you have more values than you have so far shown.



(Dealer. South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠	Pass

South's last bid on this deal was badly out of bounds. If he counted up his hand, he would find that he had hardly any more than enough to make the calls he had made. Unless his partner was able to bid 3-Spades instead of 2-Spades, on the third round, there would be only an extreme luck chance to make a game

Actually, North had a hand so weak that it barely justified what he had done, his opening call of a minor suit followed by 1-No Trump, and then a mere preference.

After the diamond 4 was led, the opponents took three tricks with trumps and one each in the side suits, setting the contract three tricks. Even the 2-Spades bid by North would have been down if South had passed.

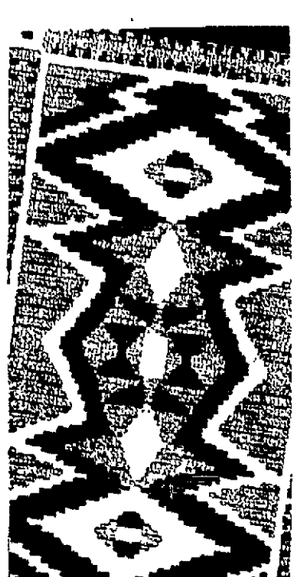
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

If North opens this deal with a weak No Trump bid, South calls 2-Hearts, East doubles and all pass, what is correct defense to defeat the contract?

'STRONG FOR IT', MANSFIELD SERVICE MAN SAYS OF USO

Anyone who wants to learn the service man's ideas about the USO can find out by talking with Private Robert Keefe, who's home on furlough from Camp Sutton, N. C.

"The service man wouldn't have anything to make life pleasant and normal if it weren't for the USO," Keefe said. "We in the service are strong for it and if there's anything I can do to help the drive for $22,000 in Richland county, I wish you'd let me know."

Keefe has seen the USO in operation while he was stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., Fort Bragg, N. C., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., as well as at Camp Sutton, and he says it's "100 per cent in all places."

"When a fellow is in uniform he never gets away from the USO," he said. "It seems to be everywhere. If you get off a bus, a USO woman grabs you and asks if you want a place to shave and clean up and something to eat between busses. As soon as we get off a train we are met by a USO worker who invites us to the club house or unit; they give us cigarets and candy bars and cookies all along the line."

ROBERT KEEFE

A popular feature of the USO stations, according to Keefe, is the presence of pretty girls. He came up with the idea that "it would be swell to have a USO club room in Mansfield, where fellows home on leave could meet."

The son of Mrs. Clara Keefe, of 710 Park avenue west, he entered service last Dec. 8. He is due to return to Camp Sutton at the end of his current furlough June 4.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

While sports fans of Massillon and all Ohio are wondering if Massillon schools will open next September, and whether the mighty Tigers will open the football season, since Massillon voters last week turned down a school operating levy for the third time, this may be a tip-off on the situation:

Coach Elwood Kammer, successor to Bud Houghton as mentor of the Massillon football Tigers, has already subscribed to The News-Journal for three months starting Aug. 15.

This may mean that Kammer expects to open the football season on schedule, or it may only mean that he is following the usual far-sighted Massillon policy of preparedness. Your guess is as good as anyone's.

To play or not to play may be a question.

But there's no question about the famous Massillon system being continued during the rapid change-over in coaching personnel at Washington high.

Paul Brown was a careful reader of newspapers from towns on Massillon schedule. So was Bud Houghton. And so, it seems, is Elwood Kammer.

These Massillon boys don't overlook any bets. Frequently an innocent appearing paragraph in a newspaper may be the tip-off on an enemy weakness that might not be apparent to the best scout watching a team in actual play.

Most newspapers which provide adequate coverage of football games act as preliminary scouts for opposing teams. In their game summaries and description of ground gaining and touchdown plays, they tip the scouts on what to look for when they finally get around to giving the opposition the once over.

Those who run may read, so the old saying has it, and those who read need not scout an opponent in every game. They can wait until a game or two ahead of combat time. But Massillon still will scout a tough opponent in every game, but thoroughly! With five or six scouts charting every action of every player on every play.

Let's not give the idea that Massillon coaches are the only ones who read the paper. Others do, and again others do not.

Paul Snyder, coach of Mansfield's gridiron Tygers, is another lad who subscribes to papers from opposition towns, and reads and saves clippings.

Thank you, boys, I think it's rippin'
That you all should save my clippin's.

The Brooklyn Dodgers boosted their lead in the National league to six games.

* * *

The Cleveland Indians skidded into fourth place in the American league while the Detroit Tigers took over second and the Boston Red Sox moved up a notch to third.

* * *

The St. Louis Cardinals replaced the Boston Braves in second place in the National.

Mel Ott, playing his 17th year in the majors—all with the Giants—tied Rogers Hornsby's National league record of 1,582 runs batted in.

Two of yesterday's scheduled double-headers were cut in half by the weather but five of the six played resulted in double victories. The lone exception was at Philadelphia, where the Yankees came from behind with a seven-run sixth-inning rally to whip the Athletics, 11-7, then bumped into Luman Harris, who checked them on four hits, for a 4-2 decision in the afterpiece.

Elden Auker and Johnny Niggeling shared the pitching honors as the St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 and 8-3.

The Boston Red Sox crushed Buck Newsom and the Washington Senators, 11-1, in the first game and took the second, 4-3, on pinch-hitter Lou Finney's two-run single.

Aging Ted Lyons pitched and batted the Chicago White Sox to a 9-4 ten-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, getting three hits in five appearances and touching off a five-run rally in the tenth. The second game was halted in the third inning.

* * *

Curt Davis pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-2 triumph over the Braves and Whitlow Wyatt tossed a six-hitter in the nightcap to make it unanimous, 3-1

Bill Lohrman pitched the Giants to a 3-2 decision over the Phils in the first game, and Bob Carpenter yielded only seven blows in the second, won by the Giants, 7-1.

The floundering Pittsburgh Pirates were no trouble for the Cincinnati Reds, who won the opening game, 8-2, on the five-hit pitching of Bucky Walters and scored a 3-0 shutout in the nightcap as Ray Starr scattered six safeties.

Lefty Pollet pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game got no further than the last half of the first inning

Uncle Sam Has This Decision

Wolcott's Track Career Now Rests With Navy.

(Wide World Features)

HOUSTON, Tex.—Whether Freddie Wolcott, greatest hurler in track history, will don his scanties for competition again is a matter resting strictly with Uncle Sam.

* * *

Wolcot is an ensign now, being trained at the Annapolis naval academy for a place in the Navy's physical education program.

If the navy shakes its head, the magnificent career of the former Rice Institute star will have ended.

"I hope to go to the nationals this summer," Wolcott said before grabbing a rattler for Annapolis, "but if the navy says no, I guess I've run my last race."

In three years of varsity and one year of post-graduate competition, Wolcott set 12 world records, equalled another, and established so many Southwest conference and meet records he has lost track of them.

He is co-holder of the 110-meter high hurdle mark, 13.7 seconds, with Forrest Towns. In his own right, he claims these records: 200-meter lows, 22.3; 220-yard lows, 22.5; 40-yard highs, 5 flat; 50-yard highs, 6.1; 65-meter highs, 7.1; 65-yard highs, 6.9; 70-yard highs, 7.4; 60-yard lows, 5.4, 45-yard highs, 5.6.

In three instances, he broke his own world records.

MUST HAVE BEEN GOOD

CHICAGO—(AP)—Jimmy Phelan, former University of Washington grid coach, says Jeff Heath, Cleveland Indian outfielder, was the best high school halfback he had ever seen.

GROVE CITY SETS NEW MUTUEL RECORD

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Racing fans in Ohio turned their wholehearted attention to the Thistledown track in Cleveland today as Beulah park ended its spring meeting.

The mutuel handle at the Grove City track Saturday set a new all-time record of $114,011, surpassing the previous high of $99,600 made on Labor day, 1937.

Tribe Drops To 4th Place

Finally Find Notch Boy Boss Picked Out.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Indians were en route east today in the position which Manager Lou Boudreau often has predicted would be their fate—fourth place.

* * *

The Browns were the villains yesterday at St. Louis, when they took two contests from the Tribe, 5 to 4 and 8 to 3.

* * *

Whereas Cleveland was in second yesterday morning, five percentage points ahead of Detroit, they now are two points behind third-place Boston. Detroit lost one game but took second place, eight contests behind the Yankees, as its nightcap was postponed. Boston and Cleveland are 8½ games behind the New Yorkers.

St. Louis made it three out of four week-end games over the Redskins, and has taken six out of the club's last seven meetings. It was Cleveland's 11th loss in the last 13 starts.

Jim Bagby was the victim in the first game yesterday, and Elden Auker took his seventh win.

In the second contest, Johnny Niggeling got credit for the win and Vernon Kennedy, who lasted until the fourth, was charged with the loss. Cleveland opens its eastern invasion tomorrow in Boston.

Zanesville Cubs Climb To Second

CANTON—(AP)—The Zanesville Cubs, who floundered in the depths last season, got back into the Mid-Atlantic league's No. 2 position today.

They've been playing fast ball this campaign, and the assistance of Clay Bryant, ex-major league hurler doing duty with the Cubs, has been felt.

Bryant scattered 10 hits and was masterful in the pinches as the Cubs whipped Canton 6 to 2 yesterday. Charleston added to its league lead, whipping Springfield 7 to 6 in a 10-inning game. Dayton nosed out Erie 2 to 1.

These Catchers Prove Worth As Hitters

Besides playing bang-up ball behind the plate, several of the catchers in the National league are belting the ball at a merry pace to lead the senior batting parade. Babe Phelps, who went to the Pirates from the Dodgers last winter, was near the top of the heap with a .350 bat average, Ernie Lombardi's slugging is keeping the Braves in the first division. Walker Cooper's timely hitting puts him in the first five in the batting race. Ray Lamanno, the Reds' rookie, is above the .300 mark. Mickey Owen of the Dodgers also is batting better than .300.

Providents Break Even

Blank Elyria After Defeat at Delaware.

Provident Loan girls broke even in their holiday week-end pair of softball games, coming back Sunday with a 7-0 victory over Elyria Franks Bakery at North Lake park after dropping a 2-6 decision to Columbus Wilks Meats at Delaware Saturday night.

Fran Knapp turned in a pitching masterpiece in scoring yesterday's shutout, stopping Elyria threats in the third and seventh innings when the visitors filled the bases but couldn't find the way home.

Providents won the game in the first inning with a five-run splurge. Jean Herrick led off by beating a bunt for a single. Bucky Holda singled, and the bases were filled when Donna Schuster also beat out a bunt. The action was coming a little too early and too fast for the Elyrians who began tossing the ball around, and before the inning was over, Herrick, Holda, Schuster, Whiteman and Peters had crossed the platter.

They added a run in the third when Schuster again beat out a bunt, leading off, and made the circuit on two errors. And an error which gave Tipul a life in the sixth led to the final run.

Michigan Nine Ties For Title

Wolves Fall Short of Clean Cut Championship.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Michigan fell short of wrapping up its second Big Ten baseball championship and settled in a tie for it with Iowa.

Credit for changing Michigan's destiny largely belongs to Ohio State. The Buckeyes in a 3-2 Friday triumph knocked the Wolverines out of a chance to repeat for the pennant.

Michigan beat Ohio State, 7-1, Saturday and thus salvaged a championship. The Hawkeyes and Wolverines closed their hooks with 10 wins and two losses.

Wisconsin was dropped from the running when Minnesota captured a double-header, 3-1 and 6-1, Saturday. The Badgers can take third place this week-end at Madison if they sweep the season's final two-game series from Ohio State. Both schools have six wins in 10 games.

Mel Ott Shares League Record

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants shared the National league record for runs batted in with Rogers Hornsby today.

The stocky little outfielder drove across a run in each game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Phils and raised his 17-year total to 1,582.

The big league standard for runs batted in is 2,209 set by Babe Ruth in 22 seasons.

ATHLETE DIES

FREMONT—(U.P.)—John Geyer, 23, former Rising Sun high school athletic star, died of a heart attack yesterday while running to second base in a game between Fostoria and Fremont. He played with the Fostoria Red Flares. His wife and mother were in the stands.

Another Sundra Takes to Diamond

(Wide World Features)

CLEVELAND—There's another Sundra on the tundra back here in Pitcher Steve's home town.

The Washington flinger's 16-year-old kid brother, Ed; is out on the sandlots grooming himself for the majors, same as Steve did.

Like Steve, who went with the Cleveland Indians after helping pitch his sandlot team to the national amateur championship in 1931 and later joined the Senators, Ed is tall, husky and speaks with a slow drawl.

"Steve taught me all I know about pitching," says the kid brother, regular hurler for the East Technical high school team. "When I was two years old he had me out in the back yard with a toy bat, trying to start me in right.

* * *

"Steve showed me how to throw a curve and worked with me on a fast ball. When Washington was in town last season, he had me out at League park three times—shagging flies and doing some sideline pitching to Washington coaches. That was a big thrill."

This summer Ed will play with a class A sandlot club and go on with his grooming process.

MAY LOSE MEETS

DENVER—(INS)—Colorado may be without a major tennis tournament this year, as a result of the equipment shortage. Sam D. Milstein, a leader in arranging Denver meets, said that if they are not all cancelled, they may instead be combined into a single tournament. The intermountain, state and city meets are the main ones on the Colorado schedule annually.

Stroh Golfers Take Match

Jim Musille Scores Upset Win Over Mayer.

Bissman's Strohs Bohemian Beers opened their golf season yesterday with a decisive 20½ to 11½ victory over Coolridge niblick swingers on the Coolridge layout.

* * *

But the match provided the first big upset of the Mansfield golf season as Jim Musille of Coolridge took all four points from Joe Mayer, Possum Run champion, Musille going one up on the first nine and closing out the match at 4 and 3.

Al Kushin of Strohs was the only other four-point winner, while chalking up low medal of 71 on rounds of 35-36. Bob Moorehead, Musille and Frank Jocha tied Kushin's 36, but the 35 stood as the best round of the day.

A return match is planned between the two teams later in the season at Possum Run and meanwhile the Strohs are preparing a regular schedule of matches for the summer.

Let Down Bars on 'No Sign' Ruling

(Wide World Features)

PITTSBURGH—It takes a war to make Pittsburgh Pirate biggies relent in their aversion to fence advertising at beautiful Forbes Field—and then it's only to give our Uncle Samuel a lift.

When the late Club Owner Barney Dreyfus moved the scene of the Bocco home baseball activities from downtown to Forbes Field, in the heart of Pittsburgh's cultural center, he laid down a rule that the beauty of the setting and the park would not be disturbed by painted signs proclaiming various commercial virtues.

He passed up a lot of revenue but won praise of fans and players alike by leaving the fences and stand walls a somber green—a pleasant relief for the hitters who frequently gripe about the checkerboard color background in other major league parks.

* * *

Dreyfuss relaxed his rule in the first world war for patriotic advertising and his heirs for world war 2 display a huge sign on the centerfield fence. It's the only sign in the park and it sticks out like a shiner under a noon-day sun, urging in bold red and white: "Buy savings bonds and stamps."

Two More Teams Added To League

SHELBY—With the addition of two more teams to the Shelby softball league, the league schedule will start aagin at 6:15 p. m. today at the Municipal Water company diamond on North Gamble street.

The Autocall company entered a second team while a group of high school boys got together the second team. Since the schedule had just started last week, the league managers voted to cancel the old schedule and draw up a new one for all six teams. Games played last month in the league will not count on the championship rounds. The Autocall company No. 1 team will meet the Ohio Seamless Tube company team today in the opening game.

BUCKEYE TRACKSTERS SCORE EASY VICTORY

BEREA—(AP)—Ohio State university's western conference track champions had little trouble in sweeping the Ohio A. A. U. crown Saturday night.

Led by Captain Ralph Hammond and Bob Knight, the team piled up 150 points, 50 more than second-place Miami. Baldwin-Wallace finished third with 37 points, Toledo fourth with 18 and Ohio university fifth with 14.

Haefner To Defend Title

Mahoning Valley King Eligible For Tourney.

By RODGER NELSON

COLUMBUS—(INS)— The dawn of June 1 found the good citizens of Girard, O., and surrounding territories counting the days until the date of firing of the first tee shot in the second Mahoning Valley open, carded for the Mahoning country club's swank layout, June 26-28. Some 200 of the nation's leading golfers on the prescribed date will blitz the fairways in their quest for a slice of the $5000 prize melon that awaits the winners of the event.

* * *

Besides the $5000 prize list for the play for pay delegation, trophies will be up for the ten leading amateurs in the event.

* * *

Contrary to many rumors, Clayton Haefner, the blond bomber from Linville, N. C., will be eligible to defend the title he snatched away from Byron Nelson by the slim margin of a single stroke in last year's inaugural. The "Peck's Bad Boy" of the P. G. A. recently was banned from participation in the P. G. A. tournament at Atlantic City for "conduct unbecoming a P. G. A. member."

Haefner's winning medal score last year was 276, four 'neath par figures for the six dozen holes.

However, a similar score this year would be four strokes over par, following a revamping of the course's standard figures by the Youngstown district P. G. A. Par for the 18-hole layout now is 68.

Two of the top performers in the country, Nelson and Craig Wood, will be the principal spotlight monopolizers. Nelson will take his place in the center of the stage to see if he can rebound following his one-stroke defeat last year, while Wood came into the 1941 event fresh from the Masters and the National Open conquests and proved quite a disappointment when he was off to a bad start from which he never recovered.

Wood, however, made amends when he came back later in the summer over the same course in the "unofficial world's championship match" to down Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. titlist, in a $2500 winner-take-all affair.

Ohioans figured strongly in this year's race are:

Bill Barbour, Waldo Crowder and Johnny Malutic of Cleveland; amateur Tom Whiteway of Cleveland, Tony Joy, Jack Miskell, Jack Thompson and Al Alcroft, Youngstown, Andy Velican, Warren; Rod Munday, Toledo; Lloyd Gullickson, Canton; and Tony Penna, Dayton.

Club Stages First Regatta

Fifty Boats Line Up In Opening Parade.

Pleasant Hill Boat club staged its first regatta of the season yesterday afternoon before a big crowd of speed boat fans, many of whom joined in the opening grand parade of 50 craft.

Two races were staged in four heats, with 10 one-mile laps to each heat.

First heat in the 16-horsepower race was won by Allen of Ashland, and second heat by Baumbarger of Mansfield, with Hackton of Mansfield second.

* * *

In the 22-horsepower race Coleman of Mansfield took the first heat, Heston of Mansfield the second heat, and Wolfe of Mansfield was second.

Prizes donated by Yuncker Brothers and the Mansfield Athletic Supply were awarded to each of the six drivers.

A full schedule of regattas is being planned for the summer.

Millers Move Up To Third Place

(By Associated Press)

The big holiday week-end in the American association saw the Minneapolis Millers move into a challenging position. They won two pitching duels with St. Paul Sunday, 2-1 and 3-1 to total up four victories out of five against the Saints this season. The win put them in third place.

* * *

Kansas City halted Milwaukee 6-5. The second game was called in the third with the score 1-all.

* * *

Louisville humiliated Indianapolis, 15-1 and 11-3. Columbus whipped Toledo, 7-2, but the nightcap was called in the second with the Hens leading, 4-0.

NOT UNUSUAL FOR HIM

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—(AP)—Eddie Owcar, University of Alabama pitcher, has won six no-hit, no-run games since his high school days began in 1937. His most recent was against Mississippi.

Sammy Captures PGA Title

They Said He Couldn't But They Were Wrong.

By GAYLE TALBOT

ATLANTIC CITY—(AP)—Sammy Snead, they said, never would win a national golf championship, because something always seemed to happen to him in the closing stages of a tournament when the chips were down.

* * *

They were wrong. Sammy held the Professional Golfers association championship today and had $2,000 worth of war bonds in his pocket as he left for Washington to be inducted into the navys physical training program.

* * *

The 30-year-old star from the hill country, after having suffered probably more major disappointments than any top flight golfer, finally came through with a 2 and 1 victory over Corp. Jim Turnesa in yesterday's 36-hole title match at the Seaview club here.

It was a fighting victory, too. Sam stood three down at the halfway point. The crowd of 3,000 was rooting for the swarthy little soldier from Fort Dix. But Snead went out to shoot some of the greatest home-stretch golf ever seen.

Three down through the 23rd hole and with Turnesa refusing to crack, Sammy turned on the heat and blazed home. On the 27th hole he caught up with Turnesa, on the 28th he passed him, and from there on the scrapping corporal could only hang on.

Unfortunately for Turnesa, army regulations forbid his pocketing the $750 prize he won here, and besides, he promised to donate anything he might win to the army emergency relief fund.

* * *

So pleased were officials with the tournament they decided to hold their next championship on the same course. They don't know when that will be—probably after the war has ended—but it will be in Atlantic City.

Two Redleg Stars Injured

Both McCormicks Are Sent to Hospital.

CINCINNATI—(AP)— This off-day looked good to the bruised and battered Cincinnati Reds who sent two men to the hospital over the week-end and have six others ailing.

* * *

Mike McCormick, speedy outfielder, broke a small bone in his left leg sliding to second in the Memorial Day night cap and will be out of play at least eight weeks.

Harry Craft and Gee Walker collided chasing a fly and Craft was carried off with a concussion that probably will keep him out until next week. Walker played both games yesterday but has a bruised leg.

It will be another week before Frank McCormick, hospitalized for six days by torn back ligaments, can play again, but today's vacation may be all that's needed by his understudy, Hank Sauer, who hurt his ankle Friday.

Outfielder Ival Goodman, except for possible pinchhitting assignments, probably will spend most of this week benched with a lame ankle, and Utility Infielder Bobby Mattick's eye treatments haven't made him useable yet.

Second Baseman Lonnie Frey, struck by a hard grounder yesterday, probably can nurse the soreness out of his bruised leg today.

Sunday's patched Redleg lineup downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 and 3-0 for the Bucs' eighth and ninth straight defeats.

Bucky Walters notched his fifth straight victory in the opener giving five hits. Three fast doubleplays helped Ray Starr over the early innings to his third shutout in the nightcap.

* * *

Outfielders Clyde Vollmer, 20-year-old Cincinnatian rushed here from the Reds' farm at Syracuse after Saturday's mishaps arrived in time for the second game, and endeared himself to 16,721 fans by lining Max Butcher's first pitch for a homer in the third.

FRANK HAYES GOES TO ST. LOUIS CLUB

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns, boasting their best record of the season with 12 triumphs in their last 18 starts, bolstered their line-up today with the acquisition of Catcher Frank Hayes in a trade with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Announcing the deal, President Donald Barnes of the Browns, said that it was strictly a player deal with Catcher Bob Swift and Pitcher Bob Harris going to the A's. Hayes joins St. Louis in Washington tomorrow.

LIGHT HITTER

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Although Jigger Statz, playing manager of the Los Angeles Coast league team, has been in the loop 17 years, his total number of home runs does not equal Babe Ruth's top figure for a single season. Statz has accounted for 58, two under the Babe's big mark.

Heartless Role.

Bette Davis adds another heartless and domineering role to her galaxy of screen characterizations as "Stanley Timberlake," in the Ohio attraction, "In This Our Life," based on Ellen Glasgow's story. As a wilful, inconsiderate southern girl who delights in plunging her family and friends into grief and despair Miss Davis is supported by Olivia de Havilland, George Brent and Dennis Morgan. Billie Burke, Frank Craven and Charles Coburn are others in the cast.

Technicolor Romance.

The naive young owner of a salt-producing island in the West Indies learns about civilization from a worldly-wise young woman in "Bahama Passage," Technicolor romance, showing at the Ritz. Madeleine Carroll and Stirling Hayden are teamed in the picture and the cast includes Flora Robson, Cecil Kellaway and Mary Anderson. "The Wolf Man," a horror-thriller with Lon Chaney, jr., Evelyn Ankers and Patric Knowles is the co-feature.

Unusual Drama.

A spell-binding drama showing the ruthlessness of a small band of Nazi-invaders in the Hudson Bay country after their submarine had been wrecked by the R. C. A. F., is unfolded in one of the most unusual pictures of the year, "The Invaders," showing at the Madison. Superlative scenery, actually filmed in the Canadian Rockies, provides background for the picture that presents Laurence Olivier, Leslie Howard and Raymond Massey at the head of a distinguished cast. Three newcomers, Anton Walbrook, Erie Portman and Glynis Johns, have prominent roles, particularly Portman, the Nazi leader who stops at nothing. "Butch Minds the Baby" is the second attraction.

Gangster Comedy.

Zazu Pitts has the leading comedy role in "So's Your Aunt Emma," the story of a shy-maiden lady who is thought by gangsters to be connected with the "opposition" in "So's Your Aunt Emma" showing at the Park. She launches a one-woman war against the gangsters and Roger Pryor, as a newspaperman, seconds her in the campaign. Warren Hymer and Gwen Kenyon are in the cast. "In Old California," with John Wayne, Patsy Kelly and Frank Kennedy is the second attraction.

FIRE A BLESSING

ASTORIA, Ore.—(U.P.)—Astoria's devastating fire in 1922 was a major disaster, but now city leaders feel that it was helpful from the standpoint of civilian defense. Frame structures of the 20's which were destroyed, were replaced with concrete buildings and the city is now safe from bad fires, in the opinion of defense directors.

The concrete basements of stores have been suggested as air raid shelters, as well as viaducts under the city sidewalks.

SIGNS FOR DUTY

ALBANY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Twenty-six young horsewomen have formed a mounted troop of the Red Cross Motor Service. The girls have special uniforms and train under a Red Cross staff instructor.

Members feel they will be able to play an important role in time of disaster, as they can go where automobiles and motorcycles cannot travel.

While sports fans of Massillon and all Ohio are wondering if Massillon schools will open next September, and whether the mighty Tigers will open the football season, since Massillon voters last week turned down a school operating levy for the third time, this may be a tip-off on the situation:

Coach Elwood Kammer, successor to Bud Houghton as mentor of the Massillon football Tigers, has already subscribed to The News-Journal for three months starting Aug. 15.

This may mean that Kammer expects to open the football season on schedule, or it may only mean that he is following the usual far-sighted Massillon policy of preparedness. Your guess is as good as anyone's.

* * *

To play or not to play may be a question.

But there's no question about the famous Massillon system being continued during the rapid change-over in coaching personnel at Washington high.

Paul Brown was a careful reader of newspapers from towns on Massillon schedule. So was Bud Houghton. And so, it seems, is Elwood Kammer.

* * *

These Massillon boys don't overlook any bets. Frequently an innocent appearing paragraph in a newspaper may be the tip-off on an enemy weakness that might not be apparent to the best scout watching a team in actual play.

Most newspapers which provide adequate coverage of football games act as preliminary scouts for opposing teams. In their game summaries and description of ground gaining and touchdown plays, they tip the scouts on what to look for when they finally get around to giving the opposition the once over.

Those who run may read, so the old saying has it, and those who read need not scout an opponent in every game. They can wait until a game or two ahead of combat time. But Massillon still will scout a tough opponent in every game, but thoroughly! With five or six scouts charting every action of every player on every play.

Let's not give the idea that Massillon coaches are the only ones who read the paper. Others do, and again others do not

Paul Snyder, coach of Mansfield's gridiron Tygers, is another lad who subscribes to papers from opposition towns, and reads and saves clippings.

* * *

Thank you, boys, I think it's rippin'
That you all should save my clippin's.

DIRT TRACK DRIVER DIES OF INJURIES

DAYTON—(U.P.)—Everet Saylor, 32, several times national dirt track racing champion, was killed yesterday at Cape Girardeau, Mo., after his racing car went out of control in a dirt track race.

Saylor, who led early in the Indianapolis 500-mile race last year but cracked up later on a turn, died of a compound skull fracture, according to his family. He was a member of the Central State Racing association.

Yankees Stretch Loop Lead

Champions Now Have Margin of 8 Games.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(By Associated Press)

MAJOR league baseball enjoyed a rest today after the busiest week-end of the season, which brought disaster in double doses to many of the pennant contenders and success in the same quantities to those who could withstand the pressure of four games in two days.

A total of 392,280 fans swarmed to the ball parks, 197,820 of them on Decoration day and 194,460 of them yesterday. And that didn't include the hundreds of service men who were admitted free.

* * *

Here are some of the more important happenings witnessed:

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to eight games.

The Brooklyn Dodgers boosted their lead in the National league to six games.

* * *

The Cleveland Indians skidded into fourth place in the American league while the Detroit Tigers took over second and the Boston Red Sox moved up a notch to third.

* * *

The St. Louis Cardinals replaced the Boston Braves in second place in the National.

Mel Ott, playing his 17th year in the majors—all with the Giants—tied Rogers Hornsby's National league record of 1,582 runs batted in.

Two of yesterday's scheduled double-headers were cut in half by the weather but five of the six played resulted in double victories. The lone exception was at Philadelphia, where the Yankees came from behind with a seven-run sixth-inning rally to whip the Athletics, 11-7, then bumped into Luman Harris, who checked them on four hits, for a 4-2 decision in the afterpiece.

Elden Auker and Johnny Niggeling shared the pitching honors as the St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 and 8-3

The Boston Red Sox crushed Buck Newsom and the Washington Senators, 11-1, in the first game and took the second, 4-3, on pinch-hitter Lou Finney's two-run single.

* * *

Aging Ted Lyons pitched and batted the Chicago White Sox to a 9-4 ten-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, getting three hits in five appearances and touching off a five-run rally in the tenth. The second game was halted in the third inning.

* * *

Curt Davis pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-2 triumph over the Braves and Whitlow Wyatt tossed a six-hitter in the nightcap to make it unanimous, 3-1.

Bill Lohrman pitched the Giants to a 3-2 decision over the Phils in the first game, and Bob Carpenter yielded only seven blows in the second, won by the Giants, 7-1.

The floundering Pittsburgh Pirates were no trouble for the Cincinnati Reds, who won the opening game, 8-2, on the five-hit pitching of Bucky Walters and scored a 3-0 shutout in the nightcap as Ray Starr scattered six safeties.

Lefty Pollet pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game got no further than the last half of the first inning.

Uncle Sam Has This Decision

Wolcott's Track Career Now Rests With Navy.

(Wide World Features)

HOUSTON, Tex.—Whether Freddie Wolcott, greatest hurler in track history, will don his scanties for competition again is a matter resting strictly with Uncle Sam.

* * *

Wolcot is an ensign now, being trained at the Annapolis naval academy for a place in the Navy's physical education program.

* * *

If the navy shakes its head, the magnificent career of the former Rice Institute star will have ended

"I hope to go to the nationals this summer," Wolcott said before grabbing a rattler for Annapolis, "but if the navy says no, I guess I've run my last race."

In three years of varsity and one year of post-graduate competition, Wolcott set 12 world records, equalled another, and established so many Southwest conference and meet records he has lost track of them.

He is co-holder of the 110-meter high hurdle mark, 13.7 seconds, with Forrest Towns. In his own right, he claims these records: 200-meter lows, 22.3; 220-yard lows, 22.5; 40-yard highs, 5 flat; 50-yard highs, 6.1; 65-meter highs, 7.1; 65-yard highs, 6.9; 70-yard highs, 7.4; 60-yard lows, 5.4, 45-yard highs, 5.6.

In three instances, he broke his own world records.

MUST HAVE BEEN GOOD

CHICAGO —(AP)— Jimmy Phelan, former University of Washington grid coach, says Jeff Heath, Cleveland Indian outfielder, was the best high school halfback he had ever seen.

GROVE CITY SETS NEW MUTUEL RECORD

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Racing fans in Ohio turned their wholehearted attention to the Thistledown track in Cleveland today as Beulah park ended its spring meeting.

The mutuel handle at the Grove City track Saturday set a new all-time record of $114,011, surpassing the previous high of $99,600 made on Labor day, 1937.

Tribe Drops To 4th Place

Finally Find Notch Boy Boss Picked Out.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The Indians were en route east today in the position which Manager Lou Boudreau often has predicted would be their fate—fourth place.

* * *

The Browns were the villains yesterday at St. Louis, when they took two contests from the Tribe, 5 to 4 and 8 to 3.

* * *

Whereas Cleveland was in second yesterday morning, five percentage points ahead of Detroit, they now are two points behind third-place Boston. Detroit lost one game but took second place, eight contests behind the Yankees, as its nightcap was postponed. Boston and Cleveland are 8½ games behind the New Yorkers.

St. Louis made it three out of four week-end games over the Redskins, and has taken six out of the club's last seven meetings. It was Cleveland's 11th loss in the last 13 starts.

Jim Bagby was the victim in the first game yesterday, and Elden Auker took his seventh win.

In the second contest, Johnny Niggeling got credit for the win and Vernon Kennedy, who lasted until the fourth, was charged with the loss. Cleveland opens its eastern invasion tomorrow in Boston.

Zanesville Cubs Climb To Second

CANTON —(AP)— The Zanesville Cubs, who floundered in the depths last season, got back into the Mid-Atlantic league's No. 2 position today.

They've been playing fast ball this campaign, and the assistance of Clay Bryant, ex-major league hurler doing duty with the Cubs, has been felt.

Bryant scattered 10 hits and was masterful in the pinches as the Cubs whipped Canton 6 to 2 yesterday. Charleston added to its league lead, whipping Springfield 7 to 6 in a 10-inning game. Dayton nosed out Erie 2 to 1.

GOOD ENOUGH REASON

ILLINI WINS 'EM

These Catchers Prove Worth As Hitters

Besides playing bang-up ball behind the plate, several of the catchers in the National league are belting the ball at a merry pace to lead the senior batting parade. Babe Phelps, who went to the Pirates from the Dodgers last winter, was near the top of the heap with a .350 bat average, Ernie Lombardi's slugging is keeping the Braves in the first division. Walker Cooper's timely hitting puts him in the first five in the batting race. Ray Lamanno, the Reds' rookie, is above the .300 mark. Mickey Owen of the Dodgers also is batting better than .300.

Providents Break Even

Blank Elyria After Defeat at Delaware.

Provident Loan girls broke even in their holiday week-end pair of softball games, coming back Sunday with a 7-0 victory over Elyria Franks Bakery at North Lake park after dropping a 2-6 decision to Columbus Wilks Meats at Delaware Saturday night.

Fran Knapp turned in a pitching masterpiece in scoring yesterday's shutout, stopping Elyria threats in the third and seventh innings when the visitors filled the bases but couldn't find the way home.

Providents won the game in the first inning with a five-run splurge. Jean Herrick led off by beating a bunt for a single. Bucky Holda singled, and the bases were filled when Donna Schuster also beat out a bunt. The action was coming a little too early and too fast for the Elyrians who began tossing the ball around, and before the inning was over, Herrick, Holda, Schuster, Whiteman and Peters had crossed the platter.

They added a run in the third when Schuster again beat out a bunt, leading off, and made the circuit on two errors. And an error which gave Tipul a life in the sixth led to the final run.

Michigan Nine Ties For Title

Wolves Fall Short of Clean Cut Championship.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Michigan fell short of wrapping up its second Big Ten baseball championship and settled in a tie for it with Iowa.

Credit for changing Michigan's destiny largely belongs to Ohio State. The Buckeyes in a 3-2 Friday triumph knocked the Wolverines out of a chance to repeat for the pennant.

Michigan beat Ohio State, 7-1, Saturday and thus salvaged a championship. The Hawkeyes and Wolverines closed their books with 10 wins and two losses.

Wisconsin was dropped from the running when Minnesota captured a double-header, 3-1 and 6-1, Saturday. The Badgers can take third place this week-end at Madison if they sweep the season's final two-game series from Ohio State. Both schools have six wins in 10 games.

Mel Ott Shares League Record

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants shared the National league record for runs batted in with Rogers Hornsby today.

The stocky little outfielder drove across a run in each game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Phils and raised his 17-year total to 1,582.

The big league standard for runs batted in is 2,209 set by Babe Ruth in 22 seasons.

ATHLETE DIES

FREMONT —(U.P.)— John Geyer, 23, former Rising Sun high school athletic star, died of a heart attack yesterday while running to second base in a game between Fostoria and Fremont. He played with the Fostoria Red Flares. His wife and mother were in the stands.

Another Sundra Takes to Diamond

(Wide World Features)

CLEVELAND—There's another Sundra on the tundra back here in Pitcher Steve's home town.

The Washington flinger's 16-year-old kid brother, Ed, is out on the sandlots grooming himself for the majors, same as Steve did.

Like Steve, who went with the Cleveland Indians after helping pitch his sandlot team to the national amateur championship in 1931 and later joined the Senators, Ed is tall, husky and speaks with a slow drawl.

* * *

"Steve taught me all I know about pitching," says the kid brother, regular hurler for the East Technical high school team. "When I was two years old he had me out in the back yard with a toy bat, trying to start me in right.

* * *

"Steve showed me how to throw a curve and worked with me on a fast ball. When Washington was in town last season, he had me out at League park three times—shagging flies and doing some sideline pitching to Washington coaches. That was a big thrill."

This summer Ed will play with a class A sandlot club and go on with his grooming process.

MAY LOSE MEETS

DENVER—(INS)—Colorado may be without a major tennis tournament this year, as a result of the equipment shortage. Sam D. Milstein, a leader in arranging Denver meets, said that if they are not all cancelled, they may instead be combined into a single tournament. The intermountain, state and city meets are the main ones on the Colorado schedule annually.

Stroh Golfers Take Match

Jim Musille Scores Upset Win Over Mayer.

Bissman's Strohs Bohemian Beers opened their golf season yesterday with a decisive 20½ to 11½ victory over Coolridge niblick swingers on the Coolridge layout.

* * *

But the match provided the first big upset of the Mansfield golf season as Jim Musille of Coolridge took all four points from Joe Mayer, Possum Run champion, Musille going one up on the first nine and closing out the match at 4 and 3.

Al Kushin of Strohs was the only other four-point winner, while chalking up low medal of 71 on rounds of 35-36. Bob Moorehead, Musille and Frank Jocha tied Kushin's 36, but the 35 stood as the best round of the day.

A return match is planned between the two teams later in the season at Possum Run, and meanwhile the Strohs are preparing a regular schedule of matches for the summer.

Let Down Bars on 'No Sign' Ruling

(Wide World Features)

PITTSBURGH—It takes a war to make Pittsburgh Pirate biggies relent in their aversion to fence advertising at beautiful Forbes Field—and then it's only to give our Uncle Samuel a lift.

When the late Club Owner Barney Dreyfus moved the scene of the Bocco home baseball activities from downtown to Forbes Field, in the heart of Pittsburgh's cultural center, he laid down a rule that the beauty of the setting and the park would not be disturbed by painted signs proclaiming various commercial virtues.

He passed up a lot of revenue but won praise of fans and players alike by leaving the fences and stand walls a somber green—a pleasant relief for the hitters who frequently gripe about the checkerboard color background in other major league parks.

* * *

Dreyfuss relaxed his rule in the first world war for patriotic advertising and his heirs for world war 2 display a huge sign on the centerfield fence. It's the only sign in the park and it sticks out like a shiner under a noon-day sun, urging in bold red and white: "Buy savings bonds and stamps."

Two More Teams Added To League

SHELBY—With the addition of two more teams to the Shelby softball league, the league schedule will start aagin at 6:15 p. m. today at the Municipal Water company diamond on North Gamble street.

The Autocall company entered a second team while a group of high school boys got together the second team. Since the schedule had just started last week, the league managers voted to cancel the old schedule and draw up a new one for all six teams. Games played last month in the league will not count on the championship rounds. The Autocall company No. 1 team will meet the Ohio Seamless Tube company team today in the opening game.

BUCKEYE TRACKSTERS SCORE EASY VICTORY

BEREA —(AP)— Ohio State university's western conference track champions had little trouble in sweeping the Ohio A. A. U. crown Saturday night.

Led by Captain Ralph Hammond and Bob Knight, the team piled up 150 points, 50 more than second-place Miami. Baldwin-Wallace finished third with 37 points, Toledo fourth with 18 and Ohio university fifth with 14.

Haefner To Defend Title

Mahoning Valley King Eligible For Tourney.

By RODGER NELSON

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The dawn of June 1 found the good citizens of Girard, O., and surrounding territories counting the days until the date of firing of the first tee shot in the second Mahoning Valley open, carded for the Mahoning country club's swank layout, June 26-28. Some 200 of the nation's leading golfers on the prescribed date will blitz the fairways in their quest for a slice of the $5000 prize melon that awaits the winners of the event.

* * *

Besides the $5000 prize list for the play for pay delegation, trophies will be up for the ten leading amateurs in the event.

* * *

Contrary to many rumors, Clayton Haefner, the blond bomber from Linville, N. C., will be eligible to defend the title he snatched away from Byron Nelson by the slim margin of a single stroke in last year's inaugural. The "Peck's Bad Boy" of the P. G. A. recently was banned from participation in the P. G. A. tournament at Atlantic City for "conduct unbecoming a P. G. A. member."

Haefner's winning medal score last year was 276, four 'neath par figures for the six dozen holes.

However, a similar score this year would be four strokes over par, following a revamping of the course's standard figures by the Youngstown district P. G. A. Par for the 18-hole layout now is 68.

Two of the top performers in the country, Nelson and Craig Wood, will be the principal spotlight monopolizers Nelson will take his place in the center of the stage to see if he can rebound following his one-stroke defeat last year, while Wood came into the 1941 event fresh from the Masters and the National Open conquests and proved quite a disappointment when he was off to a bad start from which he never recovered.

Wood, however, made amends when he came back later in the summer over the same course in the "unofficial world's championship match" to down Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. titlist, in a $2500 winner-take-all affair.

Ohioans figured strongly in this year's race are:

Bill Barbour, Waldo Crowder and Johnny Malutic of Cleveland; amateur Tom Whiteway of Cleveland; Tony Joy, Jack Miskell, Jack Thompson and Al Alcroft, Youngstown; Andy Velican, Warren; Rod Munday, Toledo; Lloyd Gullickson, Canton; and Tony Penna, Dayton.

Club Stages First Regatta

Fifty Boats Line Up In Opening Parade.

Pleasant Hill Boat club staged its first regatta of the season yesterday afternoon before a big crowd of speed boat fans, many of whom joined in the opening grand parade of 50 craft.

Two races were staged in four heats, with 10 one-mile laps to each heat.

* * *

First heat in the 16-horsepower race was won by Allen of Ashland, and second heat by Baumbarger of Mansfield, with Hackton of Mansfield second.

* * *

In the 22-horsepower race Coleman of Mansfield took the first heat, Heston of Mansfield the second heat, and Wolfe of Mansfield was second.

Prizes donated by Yuncker Brothers and the Mansfield Athletic Supply were awarded to each of the six drivers.

A full schedule of regattas is being planned for the summer.

Millers Move Up To Third Place

(By Associated Press)

The big holiday week-end in the American association saw the Minneapolis Millers move into a challenging position. They won two pitching duels with St. Paul Sunday, 2-1 and 3-1 to total up four victories out of five against the Saints this season. The win put them in third place.

* * *

Kansas City halted Milwaukee 6-5. The second game was called in the third with the score 1-all.

* * *

Louisville humiliated Indianapolis, 15-1 and 11-3. Columbus whipped Toledo, 7-2, but the nightcap was called in the second with the Hens leading, 4-0.

NOT UNUSUAL FOR HIM

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—(AP)—Eddie Owcar, University of Alabama pitcher, has won six no-hit, no-run games since his high school days began in 1937. His most recent was against Mississippi.

Sammy Captures PGA Title

They Said He Couldn't But They Were Wrong.

By GAYLE TALBOT

ATLANTIC CITY—(AP)—Sammy Snead, they said, never would win a national golf championship, because something always seemed to happen to him in the closing stages of a tournament when the chips were down.

* * *

They were wrong. Sammy held the Professional Golfers association championship today and had $2,000 worth of war bonds in his pocket as he left for Washington to be inducted into the navys physical training program.

* * *

The 30-year-old star from the hill country, after having suffered probably more major disappointments than any top flight golfer, finally came through with a 2 and 1 victory over Corp. Jim Turnesa in yesterday's 36-hole title match at the Seaview club here.

It was a fighting victory, too. Sam stood three down at the halfway point. The crowd of 3,000 was rooting for the swarthy little soldier from Fort Dix. But Snead went out to shoot some of the greatest home-stretch golf ever seen.

Three down through the 23rd hole and with Turnesa refusing to crack, Sammy turned on the heat and blazed home. On the 27th hole he caught up with Turnesa, on the 28th he passed him, and from there on the scrapping corporal could only hang on.

* * *

Unfortunately for Turnesa, army regulations forbid his pocketing the $750 prize he won here, and besides, he promised to donate anything he might win to the army emergency relief fund.

* * *

So pleased were officials with the tournament they decided to hold their next championship on the same course. They don't know when that will be—probably after the war has ended—but it will be in Atlantic City.

Two Redleg Stars Injured

Both McCormicks Are Sent to Hospital.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— This off-day looked good to the bruised and battered Cincinnati Reds who sent two men to the hospital over the week-end and have six others ailing.

* * *

Mike McCormick, speedy outfielder, broke a small bone in his left leg sliding to second in the Memorial Day night cap and will be out of play at least eight weeks.

Harry Craft and Gee Walker collided chasing a fly and Craft was carried off with a concussion that probably will keep him out until next week. Walker played both games yesterday but has a bruised leg.

It will be another week before Frank McCormick, hospitalized for six days by torn back ligaments, can play again, but today's vacation may be all that's needed by his understudy, Hank Sauer, who hurt his ankle Friday.

Outfielder Ival Goodman, except for possible pinchhitting assignments, probably will spend most of this week benched with a lame ankle, and Utility Infielder Bobby Mattick's eye treatments haven't made him useable yet.

Second Baseman Lonnie Frey, struck by a hard grounder yesterday, probably can nurse the soreness out of his bruised leg today.

Sunday's patched Redleg lineup downed the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 and 3-0 for the Bucs' eighth and ninth straight defeats.

* * *

Bucky Walters notched his fifth straight victory in the opener giving five hits. Three fast doubleplays helped Ray Starr over the early innings to his third shutout in the nightcap.

* * *

Outfielders Clyde Vollmer, 20-year-old Cincinnatian rushed here from the Reds' farm at Syracuse after Saturday's mishaps arrived in time for the second game, and endeared himself to 16,721 fans by lining Max Butcher's first pitch for a homer in the third.

FRANK HAYES GOES TO ST. LOUIS CLUB

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Browns, boasting their best record of the season with 12 triumphs in their last 18 starts, bolstered their line-up today with the acquisition of Catcher Frank Hayes in a trade with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Announcing the deal, President Donald Barnes of the Browns, said that it was strictly a player deal with Catcher Bob Swift and Pitcher Bob Harris going to the A's. Hayes joins St. Louis in Washington tomorrow.

LIGHT HITTER

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Although Jigger Statz, playing manager of the Los Angeles Coast league team, has been in the loop 17 years, his total number of home runs does not equal Babe Ruth's top figure for a single season. Statz has accounted for 58, two under the Babe's big mark.

FIRE A BLESSING

ASTORIA, Ore.—(U.P.)—Astoria's devastating fire in 1922 was a major disaster, but now city leaders feel that it was helpful from the standpoint of civilian defense.

Frame structures of the 20's which were destroyed, were replaced with concrete buildings and the city is now safe from bad fires, in the opinion of defense directors.

The concrete basements of stores have been suggested as air raid shelters, as well as viaducts under the city sidewalks.

SIGNS FOR DUTY

ALBANY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Twenty-six young horsewomen have formed a mounted troop of the Red Cross Motor Service. The girls have special uniforms and train under a Red Cross staff instructor.

Members feel they will be able to play an important role in time of disaster, as they can go where automobiles and motorcycles cannot travel.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

SCRAP METAL SUPPLY MEETS PRESENT NEED

Lumber Production Raised Four Per Cent Over Preceding Week.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The direction was moderately upward for most leading stocks today.

Activity was relatively small. Gainers of fractions included U S Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda and U. S. Rubber.

Market students noted the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said "the flow of scrap metal is consistently adequate for all current needs and in cases is reaching consumers in volume that taxes handling facilities."

Scanned also was the compilation of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association estimating lumber production for the week ended May 23 was up 4 per cent from the previous week and equal the corresponding 1941 period. Shipments were under the week before but above last year while new orders were 10 per cent less than in the preceding week and a year ago.

Led by their hobo king, Jess Davis, the knights of the road celebrated at their current convention the 88th birthday of Jacob S Coxey, former Massillon mayor, whose "Coxey's army" led a hunger march on Washington about 45 years ago, nominted 16 vice presidents for re-election and Jack Dempsey for trustee Dempsey rode the rods before he became world heavyweight champion.

Rent Reductions In 20 Centers Go Into Effect Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — It was rent reduction day today for thousands of residents in 20 population centers.

The government, through the office of administration, ordered the reductions into effect in areas in which some 9,000,000 persons live.

There were no exact figures available on how many tenants will get cuts in rentals but it was regarded as certain that in the near future similar procedure would be ordered for others of the nearly 400 "defense-rental" areas now designated.

Under the order effective today rent prices had to be cut back in 14 areas to the levels prevailing April 1, 1941, in four others the rents of January 1, 1941 will govern, and in Cleveland and Wichita, Kas, the rates must be reduced to those of July 1, 1941

The areas with the April 1, 1941 maximum include these in Ohio: Akron, Canton, Ravenna, and Youngstown-Warren

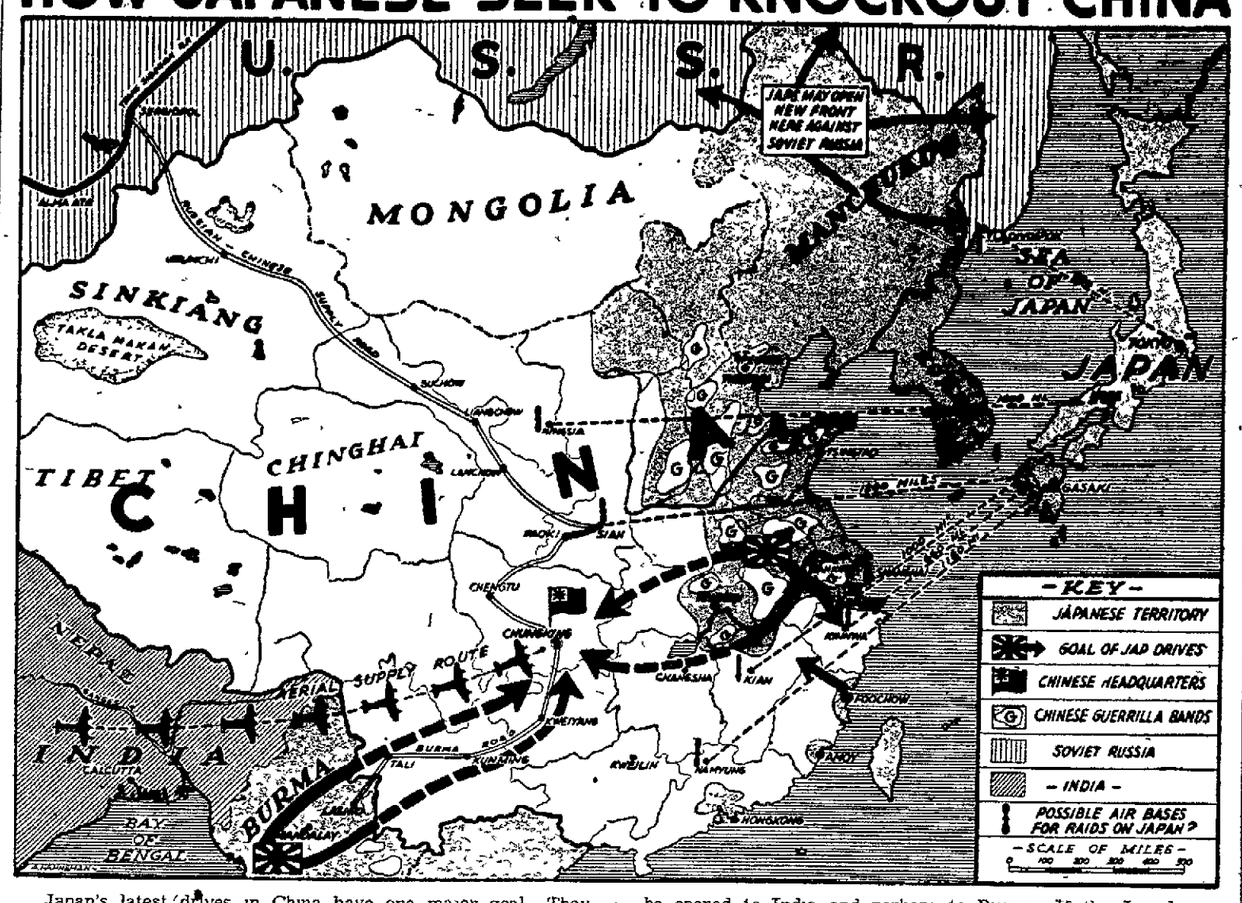
HOW JAPANESE SEEK TO KNOCKOUT CHINA



Japan's latest drives in China have one major goal They must knock Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies out of the war. If that aim can be achieved new pathways of conquest will be opened to India and perhaps to Russia. If the Jap drives succeed they will also do away with the menace of numerous potential "Shangri-Las" in eastern and central China—daggers pointed at the heart of Japan proper.

Disorderly Houses Move To West Side, Health Chief Hears

nue had transferred operations to residences on West Third and other west end streets.

The war department ordered the closing of all disorderly houses in the radius of 50 miles of Bucyrus where hundreds of soldiers are stationed for engineering training The order was given to protect the soldiers from venereal diseases

Dr Wild said it had been reported that the operators had "set themselves up in houses which appear to be respectable" and were continuing business The health commissioner also reported that Richland county authorities were seeking other operators of houses of prostitution believed to have moved just outside the city limits.

LINKS ARMY TO HEYDRICH CASE

Secret Prussian Radio Reports 14 High German Officers Arrested in Shooting.

German general in Brussels was ransacked despite protests of Von Falkenhorst.

Heydrich, meanwhile, still was in critical condition from the assassin's bullets, and the gestapo's reign of terror continued throughout Czechoslovakia

Radio Prague said 20 more persons were executed there yesterday, raising to 82 the number put to death by the occupation authorities since the Heydrich attack.

They were accused, Prague said, either of sheltering persons not registered with the German authorities, or of "approving the attack on Heydrich or adopting a hostile attitude toward Germany."

The German radio, indicating that Heydrich might have been shot by foreign agents parachuting from enemy planes, said the hostages executed in Czechoslovakia were condemned for harboring parachutists.

Admiral Leahy, With Body of Wife, First to Leave Ship at Jersey Port.

gers was Admiral William D. Leahy, American ambassador to Vichy, who returned with the body of his wife.

With an honor guard of soldiers standing at attention, the casket containing the body was taken off the boat before any passengers were allowed to leave and it was followed slowly by the ambassador, his head bowed.

The cheering laughing crowd of relatives on the pier was silent until the bereaved ambassador had left.

Represented on the passenger list were 33 nationalities.

There were 573 United States citizens, 27 quota immigrants, 11 non-quota immigrants and 297 persons entering the country with transit visas or under non-immigration status

There were 507 men and 401 women aboard and, of the total, 354 were diplomats who had represented the United States or Latin and South American countries in Axis or Axis-dominated countries, and 554 were civilians

Heading diplomatic groups were Herbert Pell, American minister in Hungary, Leland B Morris, counsellor of the American embassy in Berlin, George Wadsworth, charge d'affaires of the American embassy in Rome, General Azcarate, Mexican minister to Germany, Ernesto Brin, Panamanian minister to Rome, Gustavo Chiriboga, Ecuadorian minister to Berlin, Louis Coudy, Peruvian charge d'affaires in Rome, Victor Durani, Guatemalan minister to Rome.

Speck said that the returning travelers read with particular interest, back numbers of American periodicals obtained in Lisbon and which described the comforts arranged for Axis diplomats in this country.

"We wondered what had happened to reciprocity and why we had been forced to freeze in January and to be content with doughballs and sauerkraut on meatless days throughout our internment," he said.
